

Sweetener Edict -- Mixed Local Reaction

DUE TO BE CHUCKED OUT

By JEAN F. DOLAN

KINGSTON
Customer and merchant reactions were mixed as news of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare edict concerning cyclamate hit the Kingston area.

Despite the dire warnings concerning the sugar substitute issued by the federal agency over the weekend, some shoppers continued to buy diet items and some wholesalers continued to stock shelves.

Checking out an order with two six packs of diet cola at the Governor Clinton Market, one late afternoon customer remarked "I don't care (about the warning). There is something in everything and it's for me, not the children."

This was pretty much the attitude of the weight conscious and the diabetic who has come to rely on cyclamate products as a way of diet.

Roy Every, assistant manager at the Plaza Grand Union, said that the diet section of the supermarket is a very popular area and that people still continued to pick up items from its shelves today.

However, he noted that some diet food products including diet beverages containing cyclamate had been returned to the store as early as Saturday when the news of the possible cancer breeding potential of cyclamate first hit the wire services. He had received no directives from the parent company as to the action required of individual stores but said that a plan for action should be forthcoming in the next few days.

Special

Most markets in the Kingston area, both chain and individual ownership, have adopted a wait and see attitude. The major firms involved in the sugar free food business are expected to make good on all current shelf items and come up with an acceptable substitute for cyclamate.

Tab, Fresca, Like, Diet Cola and other cyclamate-based beverages are still available at local lunch counters and there is no appreciable fall off in consumption. At Ambroses central Broadway luncheonette, the cyclamate products are being discarded immediately.

Discount Beverages reports that there have been some returns of diet drinks in six packs and in cases. However, Donald Briggs, owner said that they are still carrying it away too.

For the dieter who wants to lose weight or maintain a strict sugar-free regimen the cyclamates have been a boon, providing tasty food and drink while meeting the requirements of health or vanity. For some the continued use of cyclamate products is still the lesser of all evils. Although HEW testing has produced what it calls cyclamate cancer in laboratory rats, many feel that "you have to go some time and it's just a case of choice — diabetes or cancer," as one dieter pointed out.

Many of those queried and overheard cited the recent cases of cranberry scare and tuna fish radiation while others noted that though cigarette warnings are included on the pack and underlined by cancer and heart associations, long time smokers continue on their puffing ways. Although HEW sounded warnings on all three, people still have cranberry sauce with their Thanksgiving turkey, tuna fish for a snack and tobacco with their after dinner coffee.

Weight Watchers, that pounds anonymous for the hefty set, relied very heavily on the sugar substitute products. Diet soda in particular was a low calorie fill up for the dieter bent on losing pounds. One member, turning attractively svelte with the diet group, bemoaned the loss of diet drinks as an appetite buffer and indicated that she would have to find a substitute for the cyclamate products.

Sugar substitutes hit the waste basket as some read the word from HEW. One mother with two weight conscious teenage girls said that two cans of Tab remained of a summer eye-on diet. She said the girls figured a can apiece was not going to hurt and now they would have beverages "which were much better for them anyhow."

Two Wall Street druggists concurred on their views of the ban. Both Anthony Hickey of Dedrick's Pharmacy and Louis Nekos of Nekos Pharmacy noted that studies by HEW were massive dosages on test rats more than would be consumed by humans in a diet situation. Nekos said that previous studies had been conducted in the field of cyclamates and the fact that removal dates are slated three and a half to four months away indicate the danger is not immediate.

More Withdrawals Seen for Troops

SAIGON (AP) — The South Vietnamese government announced today that its forces on Friday will take over a major U.S. base in the critical 3rd Corps military zone surrounding Saigon for the first time.

The South Vietnamese said the sprawling Black Horse base camp 40 miles east of the capital will be transferred to South Vietnam's 18th Infantry Division, paving the way for more American troop withdrawals beyond the 60,000 already announced.

The camp, which contains 14 miles of roads and 955 buildings, was until last June the operational base of the U.S. 11th Armored Cavalry Regiment and since then the U.S. 199th Light Infantry Brigade has been stationed there.

There has been speculation that both the 11th Armored Cavalry regiment, now stationed 65 miles north of Saigon at Quan Loi, and the 199th Light Infantry Brigade will be withdrawn from Vietnam in 1970.

Meanwhile, allied battlefield communications indicated stepped-up action across the country, but spokesmen said fighting was still at the relatively low level that has prevailed for the past seven weeks.

Sen. McGovern accuses Vice-President Agnew of cynically attempting to "discredit the patriotism" of Vietnam dissenters... Story Page 42.

Allied air and ground forces reported killing 145 enemy soldiers in a dozen small clashes from the Mekong Delta to the demilitarized zone. Not more than 25 enemy were reported killed in any single fight.

South Vietnamese losses were put at three killed and 32 wounded. The U.S. Command reported one American killed and nine wounded in ground fighting and said three Americans were killed and two wounded in some of the 22 enemy rocket and mortar attacks reported from 8 a.m. Tuesday to 8 a.m. Wednesday.

South Vietnamese headquarters said two civilians were killed by enemy shelling, and 12 civilians and two government soldiers were killed when a bus ran over a Viet Cong mine in the Mekong Delta 70 miles southwest of Saigon.

U.S. B-52 bombers attacked North Vietnamese base camps along the demilitarized zone for the first time in 12 days shortly after sporadic fighting broke out in the northern frontier region. About 10 of the big bombers dropped some 300 tons of explosives in the raids. One attack hit within half a mile of the southern edge of the DMZ, north of the abandoned U.S. Marine base at Khe Sanh and 10 miles from the Laotian border.

Two Attacks
Fifteen miles to the east, troops of the U.S. 5th Mechanized Infantry Division were attacked twice on Tuesday while operating near the allied combat base at Con Thien.

Elsewhere, U.S. infantrymen from the 4th Division and supporting artillery and aircraft killed 34 North Vietnamese in two fights in the central highlands near Pleiku, the U.S. Command said. It reported one American killed and two wounded.

10 Die in Ambush

In one of the fights 24 miles east of Pleiku, about 35 North Vietnamese tried to ambush an American supply convoy, but tanks and armored personnel carriers beat them back. U.S. headquarters said the ambush attempt cost the North Vietnamese 10 dead, while there were no American casualties and no reported damage to the convoy.

Twenty-four North Vietnamese were reported killed by 4th Division infantrymen, bombers and helicopter gunships after they attacked an armored column 19 miles northwest of Pleiku. One U.S. soldier was killed and two wounded in the 15-minute fight, headquarters said.

Douglas -- A Tenuous Link to Lansky

By JEAN HELLER

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — A major source of financial support for the foundation which Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas headed for nine years came from a deal set up by Meyer Lansky, one of the nation's most notorious mobsters. Under a contract signed by Albert Parvin, Lansky was paid $200,000 for acting as middleman in setting up the 1960 sale of the Flamingo Hotel here, Parvin, former head of the Parvin-Dohrmann Co. of Los Angeles, was president and 30 per cent owner of the company seeking to sell the hotel-casino, Hotel Flamingo, Inc.

The Flamingo was sold to a group which included Florida hotelmen Samuel Cohen, Morris Lansburgh and Daniel Lifter.

The $200,000 was a finder's fee which Lansky received for introducing the sellers to the Florida men interested in buying the hotel.

Parvin used a portion of the proceeds from the sale of the Flamingo to help set up the Albert Parvin Foundation, Parvin said Douglas aided him in creating the foundation. Douglas later served as its president and only salaried officer. It could not be determined if Douglas ever learned of or was told of the background of the Flamingo sale at any time during his association with the foundation. Douglas was asked for comment but declined to discuss the matter. Parvin could not be reached for comment.

A federal grand jury in New York is reported to be investigating the dealings of Parvin, Parvin-Dohrmann Co. and other individuals and companies, but this probe apparently is unrelated to the Flamingo sale.

The terms of the contract stipulated that Parvin's company would pay Lansky the $200,000 fee in quarterly installments of $6,250 beginning Jan. 2, 1961.

Under those terms, Parvin should have made the final payment to Lansky in October 1968.

Lansky's name has come up repeatedly in recent investigations of organized crime. Sen. John L. McClellan's permanent investigations subcommittee, for example, describes Lansky as "one of the country's top gangsters."

AP Exclusive

Frank Johnson, chairman of the Nevada Gaming Control Board, was asked about the state's official attitude toward any Lansky involvement in gambling activities here.

"He is not the kind of man we want doing business in this state," Johnson said. "And that's putting it as mildly as I can."

The purchase price of the Flamingo was $10.5 million. Parvin was the principal stockholder with more than a 30 per cent share of the company which sold the hotel-casino. Harry Goldman, Parvin's partner in Parvin-Dohrmann—a multimillion-dollar-a-year hotel supply business in Los Angeles—held 7½ per cent. Other stockholders included singer Tony Martin and actor George Raft.

Parvin said in an interview in 1964 that four years earlier he contacted Douglas and sought his help in setting up the foundation, Douglas agreed.

Tax records of the Parvin Foundation dating back to 1962 show that Douglas was serving as president at an annual salary of $12,000. Proceeds from the Flamingo sale show up regularly through 1968 as one of the foundation's largest assets.

Foundation tax records prior to 1962 are not public information. Douglas came under sharp congressional criticism last spring for his involvement with the foundation, especially when it was disclosed that he wrote Parvin telling him that an Internal Revenue Service investigation of the foundation was "a manufactured case."

In May, Douglas resigned as president of the foundation. The Parvin Foundation has also had an interest in several Las Vegas hotels and casinos by virtue of the Parvin-Dohrmann stock it held. Parvin-Dohrmann owns three casinos here, the Aladdin, the Fremont and the Stardust.

Harvey Silbert, secretary of the foundation, said it severed all its gambling ties in May—the same month Douglas resigned as foundation president—when it sold its shares of Parvin-Dohrmann. Silbert also said the Flamingo mortgage was paid off earlier this year.

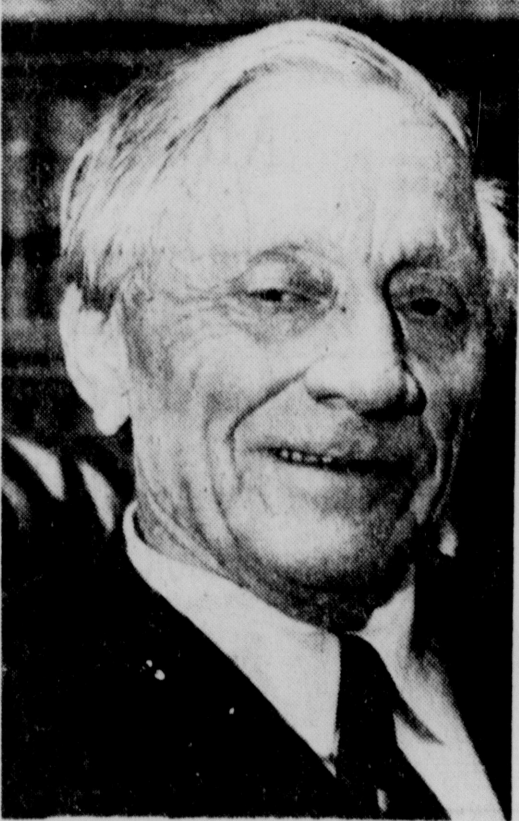

Parvin has sold out his interest in Parvin-Dohrmann as well, but still maintains the foundation.

Records of the Nevada Gaming Control Board show that Cohen, Lansburgh and Lifter are associates in a number of large Miami Beach hotels, including the San Souci, Deauville, Sherry Frontenac, Casablanca and Versailles.

In June, after Parvin sold out, Parvin-Dohrmann and Denny's Restaurants Inc. announced they would merge, but the plans were canceled earlier this month. Several days later both firms and their officers found themselves embroiled with the Securities and Exchange Commission.

An SEC complaint, filed in Federal District Court in New York, alleges violations of antifraud, report-filing and credit provisions of the Federal securities laws in connection with the now defunct merger plans. The SEC also accused Parvin of filing a false and misleading proxy statement with the Commission.

Records of the Nevada Gaming Control Board show that Cohen, Lansburgh and Lifter are associates in a number of large Miami Beach hotels, including the San Souci, Deauville, Sherry Frontenac, Casablanca and Versailles.

Perrine Park Backers Jubilant

PROSPECTS of Perrine's Park to enhance the restored covered bridge sparked jubilation from backers Tuesday.

The park, long envisioned by members of the Perrine's Bridge Committee, got a big boost this week with announcement that the site could be the start of a county park system.

The action grew out of a joint meeting of the County Parks and Recreation Commission and the legislature's recreation committee and is slated to be presented as a resolution before the November meeting of the County Legislature.

The Culinarious Home Foundation Inc., based in New Paltz had agreed to give up approximately 18 acres of land in the Town of Esopus side of the bridge for the park. Land at the Town of Rosendale approach would be granted by Central Hudson by easement. The park proper would be created on the Esopus acreage.

Elmer Carney, vice president of the Perrine's Bridge Committee which brought about restoration of the famous old span, said Tuesday that a number of area residents have come forth with donations and artifacts to add historic significance to the proposed park.

A recent donation of hitching posts and other bluestone items was offered by Nick Schwartz of Abel Street. Carney said that such articles closely related to Ulster County history and the era of the covered bridge would greatly increase the significance of the park area.

The park would include picnic and parking areas, nature trails and possibly a museum to house collections of artifacts, early farm tools, and other exhibits.

In discussing the possibility of such a park under county jurisdiction, Richard D. Nace, Second District Legislator and chairman of the legislature's recreation committee indicated that sufficient land is available at the site to make an adequate picnic and recreational facility.

Nace will present the resolution to the County Legislature at the November meeting. Michael Perry, chairman of the county parks and recreation commission, added his recommendations for establishment of a county park at the site.

Bridge restoration was completed late last year under a state and county matching grant totaling $50,000. For decades interested residents had worked to save the span from the fate of many other abandoned covered bridges.

Perrine's is considered unique in several respects. It is the only covered bridge of Burr Truss construction of any size remaining in New York State. Paralleling the New York State Thruway at the Walkkill River crossing, it is seen by more people than any other covered bridge in the state. Most of the remaining covered spans in the area are well off the beaten track, far from the mainstream of modern traffic. Some are on private land where they are hidden from public view.

Meanwhile, residents of Tillson who remember the days of horse buggy traffic across Perrine's Bridge are starting a move to have the site identified with Tillson rather than Rifton. In the days when Perrine's was a link in the main thoroughfare, the road ran through Tillson Ridge and the bridge was considered as part of Tillson.

Rosendale Town Supervisor Gerard DeFelice urged residents of the seventh legislative district, Rosendale town and village and the town of Esopus, to contact their county legislators calling for support of a proposal to have Rifton's Perrine's Bridge designated as the first county park.

Marcos Huge Favorite, But . . .

Pre-Filipino Vote -- The Gap Is Narrowed

FERDINAND MARCOS

MANILA (AP) — With national elections only three weeks away, President Ferdinand E. Marcos faces increasingly strong opposition from Sen. Sergio Osmena Jr. in his bid to become the first Philippine chief executive to win a second term.

Two months ago Marcos appeared to be clearly on his way to breaking the re-election jinx. His camp still insists he will win Nov. 11 by a huge margin and he remains the betting favorite. But the gap has been narrowed by Osmena's ceaseless campaigning against corruption, crime and economic instability, combined with the electorate's deep-seated skepticism of all politicians and the habit of regularly cleaning house by throwing out the man in power.

This is a familiar pattern in elections here—the last two weeks are often decisive.

Also normal is the fact that the outcome is likely to hinge on which candidate has the most effective party machinery to bring in the votes in the 60,000 precincts scattered throughout the island republic.

The Commission on Elections predicts the greatest turnout of voters in the 24 years since the nation gained independence from the United States. This is mainly due to increased numbers who have reached the 21-year-old minimum age for voting. About 80 per cent of the 11 million registrants are expected to mark ballots.

Violence, which frequently mars Philippine elections, is present but appears to be running significantly behind the record-breaking pace in the 1967 off-year elections for senatorial seats and municipal and provincial offices.

Few major differences separate the platforms of Marcos and Osmena. They generally are compatible on foreign policy—although Osmena expresses stronger support for ties with the United States.

Marcos has stressed the successful performances of his administration in building schools and roads and in helping develop the fast-growing "miracle rice", which made the nation self-sufficient in the cereal for the first time.

Osmena's attack has concentrated on corruption in government, high taxes, high prices and economic instability. He argues that these things, together with widespread and serious crime spawned by unemployment, are dragging down the nation and frightening away much-needed foreign capital.

Stronger Pressure On Rocky

ALBANY, N. Y. (UPI)—Governor Rockefeller is having a difficult time staying on the sidelines in the bitter New York City mayoral race. The pressure for him to take an active part is getting stronger every day.

Rockefeller, who said before and after the city primary he would support the winner, hasn't budged. But, that is, about as far as he has gone for the Republican primary victor, Sen. John J. Marchi. Now, the heat is on for him to switch to Mayor John V. Lindsay.

Those wanting the governor to get behind Lindsay argue that Marchi has taken positions on some major issues that are contrary to those of the state administration. This, they add, is cause for Rockefeller to speak out.

The governor did back Lindsay with words and money during the primary and he promised to support the winner of the Lindsay-Marchi contest. He repeated his determination when the mayor lost and decided to run as a Liberal-independent.

Since the campaign for City Hall got under way, Rockefeller has stayed as far away as possible. His brothers have helped Lindsay financially, but the governor has contributed only to the Republican State Committee.

"I expressed my preference for Mayor Lindsay during the primary, but I also said I would support the winner," Rockefeller recently told friends. "I haven't changed."

The political advisers wanting him to announce support for Lindsay insist party alignment is no longer an issue in the New York City contest. They emphasize both U. S. Sens. Jacob K. Javits and Charles E. Goodell, Republicans, are backing Lindsay and the mayor has such Democrats as Arthur Goldberg, Howard Samuels and Percy Sutton lined up.

"Party regularity is no longer a valid reason for not taking sides," one Lindsay man said. "Politically, the governor would be wise in supporting the mayor."

Some of the governor's close aides, however, cannot agree. They say there is nothing for him to gain and the arguments for him to stay neutral are many.

It was explained that four years ago, Lindsay specifically requested Rockefeller to stay out of the New York City campaign. Some Rockefeller men can't understand the mayor's change of heart.

"I'm not going to do a thing until after the November election," the governor said recently.

This goes for the battle for the GOP senatorial nomination next year, as well. At the present time, Goodell and State Sen. Edward Speno are looking for the party's endorsement.

Goodell, appointed by Rockefeller to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, is working hard to line up support among party leaders. But, the leaders and the governor are not committing themselves at this time.

Speno jumped into the race after talking with upstate Republicans reportedly disenchanted with Goodell's performance. Before announcing his candidacy, Speno talked with the governor and several other party stalwarts. Rockefeller urged him to hold off until after November.

The Republican State Committee, it is understood, will meet some time in December and a showdown on the Goodell-Speno contest may come at that time.

Primarily, the December meeting will be for the committee to urge Rockefeller to seek re-election. This action would head-off any efforts the conservatives may have in mind to block the governor's renomination.

5-Year Contract For Dr. Arnold

SAUGERTIES
Dr. Dexter O. Arnold, superintendent of Saugerties Central Schools was awarded a five-year contract starting July 1, 1970, at this week's Board of Education meeting.

The contract renewal calls for a $27,000 per year starting salary with increments of $1,500 for each succeeding year. Dr. Arnold had been receiving $25,500 and was given a $1,500 increment in the 1969-1970 school budget.

Board President Robert Herb said in the announcement today. "The board is pleased to announce an agreement with Dr. Arnold for a five-year contract. We are fortunate to have a man with his experience, ability, integrity and leadership as superintendent of schools during these difficult days of unrest and change."

"Since Dr. Arnold came to Saugerties in January of 1963, he has demonstrated his concern for the youth of Saugerties and the educational system by instituting many improvements. His knowledge of efficient operation methods and budgetary procedure has saved Saugerties taxpayers considerable sums of money. He has recruited many dedicated and competent teachers for a growing school system."

"Enrollments have increased from 3,144 to 4,422 during his term of service. The professional staff has increased from 142 to 213 and other personnel from 37 to 74. The superintendent is responsible for an operation with a budget of over $4.5 million."

"As its executive officer, Dr. Arnold has kept the board informed concerning school business and activities and has provided excellent advice and counsel. He has carried out the board's policies faithfully and conscientiously," Herb concluded.

Dutchess 'Trip,' Four Arrested

By WALTER S. CLARK

PLEASANT VALLEY

Acting on a report that a youth had been given LSD that caused him to "go on a bad trip" at a residence in this Dutchess County community, detectives arrested two women and two young men Tuesday night on narcotics charges.

Sheriff Lawrence M. Quinlan said the identity of the youth who had taken the LSD, was being withheld.

Town Justice John A. Reed issued a search warrant and arrest papers and authorities went to the home of Suzanne B. Zimmerman, 19, on Shady Creek Road at about 11:30 p. m. yesterday, and after raiding the house they took the woman, her brother and two others into custody.

Quinlan said Miss Zimmerman was charged with criminal sale of dangerous drugs, second degree, and criminal possession of dangerous drugs in the sixth degree.

Others arrested were the woman's brother, Eugene C. Zimmerman, 23, of 669 South Road, Town of Poughkeepsie; David A. Brook, 20, of 34 Adriance Avenue, and Joan A. Krzeminski, 18, of 85 Sunset Avenue, both of Poughkeepsie. They were charged with criminal possession of dangerous drugs, sixth degree.

The four were taken before Justice Reed and entered pleas of innocent. Preliminary hearings were adjourned until Oct. 29 at 7 p. m. Brook was released on $2,500 bail. Miss Krzeminski and Zimmerman were committed to the county jail in lieu of $2,500 bail pending hearings.

Judge Reed committed Miss Zimmerman to jail when she was unable to post $5,000 bail on the charge of criminal sale and $2,500 on the other count.

According to Quinlan a quantity of LSD was seized during the raid, along with an unidentified drug, which was sent to the State Police laboratory for analysis.

Participating in the arrests were Chief Detective Charles Borchers and Detectives William McCord and Harold Cypher of the sheriff's office, and Poughkeepsie Town detectives, Lt. Richard Hellman, William Bodo and Philip McCreedy.

Onteora Central School Budget

Some Unpleasant Facts to Face

By TOBIE GEERTSEMA

PHOENICIA

Even without adding to next year's budget, the Onteora Central Schools district "faces the prospect of the same size tax increase it had this year to offset less in state aid," says superintendent of schools Dr. Harold R. Snyder.

Reporting to the Board of Education this week, Dr. Snyder once again voiced concern about possible or probable cuts in state aid by the State Legislature in Albany. Less aid would mean for Onteora the necessity of attempting to "maintain the same budget total or dollar amount" by cutting into such programs as minimum state transportation (meaning students would walk further, be bused less), and a reduction of personnel.

"Such unpleasant facts must be scrutinized," says the superintendent if politicians persist with present plans. Dr. Snyder pointed out that OCS received $451 per pupil in state aid in 1968-69 as opposed to only $426 in 1969-70. Projected figures for 1970-71 show an even smaller $341 per pupil coming in via aid.

"Figuring in the cost of inflation for the two years, we will be short $166 per pupil just to keep current," the superintendent noted — a fact that would mean many cutbacks and nothing new in the way of additional educational facilities.

Finances in another vein also came up at the recent board meeting. Reporting on investment of "idle" funds, Dr. Snyder said the district has undertaken an investment program that "will yield the greatest revenue to Onteora."

Since all taxes are collected at one time (including approximately $1 million from the New York City Water Department on Ashokan Reservoir property), OCS is able to invest "idle" — if not surplus — funds.

Passing over local banks which reportedly failed to come in with "the same bid," the district chose to do business with Franklin National Bank.

At Franklin, Onteora's idle funds will earn 7½ per cent interest on Treasury Bills. Woodstock trustee Peter Rakov estimates that placement of Onteora's general fund idle monies with Franklin will bring the district some $8,000 more than could have been received through any local bank.

In other business at the October school board meeting trustees approved changes necessary on erroneous tax assessments in Town of Woodstock. Assessors in the art colony had reportedly erred in tax billings in five cases, three involving duplicate assessments and two in which taxpayers received two tax bills. Involved in the errors made by Woodstock assessors were four families and one corporation.

Two transactions in reductions in assessment were not completed and, as a result, the Woodstock Board of Assessors did not reduce the 1969-70 tax rolls. One assessment was reduced from $6,500 to $4,500 and involved a refund in the amount of $324.05. The other assessment was reduced from $2,400 to $2,000. Sums involved in the three double assessments were $400, $1,100 and $100.

Three transportation contracts were also approved at the board meeting. To Woodstock Transportation Service went a contract from the end of September to the end of June, $1,458 for transporting three secondary and three elementary students to parochial schools in Kingston. The same carrier was given an extension on an existing contract from early September to late June, $3,490.

The final contract was approved for Kingston Consolidated Schools, effective until June 30 in the amount of $109,500 for providing transportation for one student to J. A. Coleman High School in that city.

In other business the board approved the hiring of Edward Kramer as an elementary teacher to replace resigning Harold Maynard at Phoenicia School. Kramer began work earlier this month at a projected salary of $6,800, following some criticism last month of Maynard's leaving the system after classes had already begun.

Take your choice. A 4 to 6 lb. Cacklebird Roaster. Or a 7 to 9 lb. Cacklebird Capon.

Whichever you pick, it's worth $1.00 when you send us a front label from a Cacklebird Roaster or Capon.

It's also worth a couple of hours saved in preparing your chicken dinner. You can put your Cacklebird in the oven frozen because the giblets are on the outside. So, no thawing time.

And it's worth a lot of tender white meat and juicy dark meat. That's because Cacklebirds are specially bred and fed to be deliciously meaty and eaty.

What could be better? You can feast on your Cacklebird and have your dollar, too.

2 Waste Disposal Seminars Slated for Millbrook Hall

MILLBROOK — An attempt to reach some valid conclusions on waste disposal in Dutchess County will be undertaken in two seminars initiated and developed by the Dutchess County Cooperative Extension Resource Development Advisory Committee. The first, entitled "A Perspective from the State and Region," will be conducted at the Farm and Home Center, Route 44, Millbrook, tonight strating at 8:10. The second will be held Oct. 29, same place and same time. It will be entitled "Refuse Disposal in Dutchess County: Problems and Available Solutions."

The massive problems of waste across the entire country, prompted the meetings, designed specifically for elected and appointed officials. Tonight's program is to place refuse disposal in a broad perspective by explaining the situation as it exists in other areas of the state. Speakers will indicate how their experiences with refuse disposal relate to Dutchess County and how local residents might learn from these experiences. State officials will advise on the availability of financial and other assistance for the purpose of solving refuse disposal problems. Robert Ostertag, president of the county Board of Health, will be tonight's chairman.

Family Has Dutchess Court Date

Tissues Save Day for Leary's Son

SANTA ANA, Calif. (UPI) — A pre-trial hearing was interrupted Tuesday as a judge told one of the defendants, the son of LSD advocate Timothy Leary, to stop spitting on the courtroom carpet.

John Leary, 20, was present with his father and stepmother, Rosemary, for a hearing on a motion to suppress evidence in charges of possession of marijuana and LSD.

Superior Court Judge Byron McMillan warned the younger Leary that if he didn't stop spitting, he would spend the next three days in jail. Marvin Cooper, the defense attorney, assured McMillan that his client was wiping the saliva on his trousers.

The dispute was settled and the hearing proceeded when a large box of tissues was placed on the defense table.

The Learys, former residents of Millbrook, N.Y., are due back in New York State's Dutchess County Nov. 17 to answer charges arising from a drug raid on the estate they occupied.

Dr. David A. Smith of San Francisco, nationally known expert on the use of drugs and founder of the Haight-Ashbury Medical Center, testified for the defense. He said John Leary's eyes were dilated when he was arrested because of fear, and darkness not because he was high on marijuana. When Smith testified that the odor of marijuana can cling to certain garments for a considerable period of time, John furtively sniffed the sleeve of the purple shirt he was wearing.

The family was arrested last Dec. 26 in Laguna Beach, Calif., by policeman Neal Purcell. The officer testified earlier that he saw the Leary station wagon blocking a residential street and asked to see Leary's drivers license.

Purcell said he smelled the aroma of marijuana when Leary rolled down the window to present his identification, and that John was down on "all fours" in the back seat grinning at him through his hair.

The main point of contention Tuesday was Purcell's statement that John's pupils were dilated and he was acting erratic, thus leading the officer to believe he had been smoking marijuana. A search turned up a quantity of marijuana and LSD.

Smith said that it is almost impossible to detect marijuana users because their pupils do not dilate, their behavior is not odd and only a slight redness of the whites of their eyes betrays these misconceptions.

Whether or Not---Mary Jo Inquest Still Aim

WILKES-BARRE, Pa. (AP) — Dist. Atty. Edmund Dinis says he will proceed with plans for an inquest into the death of Mary Jo Kopechne whether or not a judge permits exhumation of her body for an autopsy.

Judge Bernard C. Brominski of Common Pleas Court reserved judgment Tuesday after a two-day hearing on a petition by the Massachusetts official to have the body disinterred for a postmortem examination.

Dinis had contended that an autopsy was needed to pin down the cause of the death of the 28-year-old secretary whose body was found July 19 in Sen. Edward M. Kennedy's submerged car. Dr. Donald R. Mills, associate medical examiner of Duke county, Mass., ruled she drowned.

A Replay of Ted

The final court session included a replay of a taped recording of the senator's voice giving his version, on national television July 25, of circumstances surrounding the girl's death on Chappaquiddick Island in the Martha's Vineyard resort area of Massachusetts.

Brominski gave no indication when he would hand down his verdict. Court sources said it was unlikely to come until after a Nov. 4 election in which Brominski is seeking a second 10-year term on the bench.

"I don't think we'll go any further on appeal if we lose," Dinis said after adjournment of the hearing.

"I have no complaints. I'm satisfied that we did the best we could, that we were treated fairly here and that we will abide by the decision."

Dinis contended at the hearing that the condition of Miss Kopechne's body when it was removed from the senator's car, examining witnesses, a sked record over the vigorous objection of attorneys for Mr. and Mrs. Joseph A. Kopechne, who said they were "unalterably opposed" to the proposed disturbing of their daughter's grave in Larksville.

There was conflicting testimony by pathologists on whether an autopsy now would show whether the girl died of some cause other than drowning.

A Dinis assistant, in cross-examination, asked the cause of death of the girl was "unquestionably" drowning.

Kennedy, the Massachusetts Democratic senator, did not attend the hearing. He was in Brussels for a meeting of the North Atlantic Assembly.

Vigorous Objection

Kennedy's voice on the tape recording went into the court record over the vigorous objection of attorneys for Mr. and Mrs. Joseph A. Kopechne, who said they were "unalterably opposed" to the proposed disturbing of their daughter's grave in Larksville.

AN EMBRACE — Joseph Kopechne embraces his wife, after the two day hearings ended on the exhumation of the body of his daughter, Mary Jo Kopechne. (UPI TELEPHOTO).

"An autopsy would be just like another funeral to us," testified the girl's father, a Berkeley Heights, N.J., insurance man.

His wife sat quietly in the courtroom, her head bowed. Brominski allowed the tape into evidence "in the event that it is inconsistent with other testimony of the witnesses."

Kennedy told the nation in his TV talk that Miss Kopechne died in an accident around 11:15 p.m. July 18 after a Chappaquiddick Island party.

Deputy Sheriff Christopher Look Jr. of Edgartown, Mass., testified Monday he saw Kennedy's car around 12:45 a.m. the next day driving toward Dyke Bridge.

Dinis sought for two days to get into the record a statement Kennedy made to police about 10 hours after the accident, but the judge overruled him on grounds it was hearsay.

Dinis said this version differed from Kennedy's July 25 broadcast explanation.

Kennedy subsequently pleaded guilty to leaving the scene of an accident and was given a two-month suspended sentence, with a year's probation.

Dinis took the stand to contradict testimony by Mills, who told the court Dinis had concurred with him that an autopsy was unnecessary.

"That is not true," Dinis said. Dr. Cyril H. Wecht of Pittsburgh, the third of three pathologists called by Dinis, supported the opinion of two colleagues that "a satisfactory autopsy with valid conclusion can be conducted on a body which has been embalmed and buried for six months."

But Dr. Werne Spitz, deputy chief medical examiner of Maryland, didn't agree.

"It would absolutely yield no conclusive evidence," said Spitz.

Reasonably Certain

Spitz said he was reasonably certain that Miss Kopechne drowned.

Two chemists called by Dinis Monday night testified that tests showed the presence of blood on the back, sleeves and inside collar of Miss Kopechne's white blouse.

Whatever the outcome of the hearing in the Pennsylvania court, the date of the Edgartown inquest ordered by Dinis remains in doubt.

It originally was scheduled for Sept. 3, but was postponed when attorneys for Kennedy and others involved in the case asked the Massachusetts Supreme Court to alter the proposed ground rules.

The Supreme Court is not expected to reach a decision before next Tuesday, its normal "conference day."

Arson Suspected

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — Sheriff's deputies say they suspect arson was the cause of a fire that destroyed a three store complex in suburban Penfield Tuesday.

Deputies said two separate fires were found in the basement of the one-story, cinder-block building and another in the front of the Fancy Curl Beauty parlor, the middle store. The structure also housed the Sunrise Pool Supply Co. and the Cask and Mug liquor store.

The Kennedy lawyers asked the five-justice panel to order the inquest closed to the press and public and to permit the cross-examination of witnesses.

They also demanded the disqualification of District Judge James A. Boyle, who was scheduled to preside over the inquest. Boyle was the judge who received Kennedy's guilty plea on the charge of leaving the scene of the accident.

Retiring General Faces Senate Graft Ring Probe

WASHINGTON (AP) — Retired Maj. Gen. Carl C. Turner testified today before a Senate subcommittee investigating charges that as provost marshal he blocked an Army probe into alleged multimillion-dollar graft by a ring of top enlisted men.

The committee, which resumed hearings today after several days of recess, had heard testimony earlier from Turner concerning charges he had improperly obtained confiscated guns for his own use from civilian police officials in Chicago and Kansas City.

In an earlier session, James B. Conlisk Jr., Chicago police superintendent, said Turner lied when he testified Conlisk knew 396 weapons he obtained from the Chicago police force in 1968 were for his own use and not for Army exhibition and training.

Turner has admitted he sold some of the weapons he received from the two departments. But he has insisted, despite signed receipts stating the opposite, the weapons were given to him personally and not in his official capacity.

The inquiry into Turner's gun transactions developed in the midst of the Senate investigations subcommittee's probe into the allegations he had used his position as provost marshal to cover up a criminal syndicate of sergeants organized to loot the NCO clubs they ran.

Lt. Col. Jack Pruett, who in 1967 commanded the Army's Criminal Investigations Division Washington detachment, testified he had informed Turner there were several outstanding allegations against Sgt. Maj. William Wooldridge which demanded investigation. Wooldridge at one time was sergeant major at the Army, the highest rank for an enlisted man.

Pruett said these included alleged leadership of a band of sergeants formed in Augsburg, Germany, to systematically loot the recreation clubs they ran.

Pruett said the file of the Augsburg investigation—which estimated thefts from slot machines alone at up to $350,000 annually—was ordered sealed by Turner and denied to CID agents at Ft. Benning, Ga., who were probing similar allegations against the same enlisted men.

He said another aspect of the investigation was an allegation Wooldridge, the other sergeants and a retired major general met at Ft. Benning to discuss investment of illicit proceeds and to set up a system of manipulating U.S. currency, U.S. military payment certificates and South Vietnamese piastres.

"Gen. Turner told me many people had been accused of many things and Sgt. Maj. Wooldridge was just a good 'ol country boy," Pruett testified.

Another investigator, Warrent Officer Reis R. Kash, characterized Turner's actions as a "fix."

Col. James C. Shultz, then executive officer of the investigations detachment and now deputy provost marshal general, testified he was ordered to leave Turner's office when he complained that the Wooldridge case was being squelched.

The Real U.S. Enemies

David Lawrence in his column elsewhere on this page asks two pertinent questions. How many Americans know who are the real enemies of the United States in the Vietnam War and why aren't the American people told how much the Soviets and the Red Chinese have done to bring about casualties in South Vietnam year after year?

An open debate on Communist participation in the Vietnam War would be more constructive than the so-called "Moratorium" speeches inside and outside of Congress.

There was no sign of Soviet effort to ease the war in Vietnam last week, when Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin and North Vietnamese Premier Pham Van Dong signed an aid agreement by which Moscow will supply Hanoi with additional military and economic aid estimated to cost $1 billion.

Nor does this agreement affirm the belief of some analysts that the lull in the fighting in Vietnam presages a fading out of the war. On the contrary, it means North Vietnam will continue to get the arms and ammunition to continue the war and the economic aid to maintain the strength of the home front.

The Soviet Union shows by this agreement that it still is ready to fight so-called wars of freedom with rubles so long as the ally is willing to shed its blood. At a billion dollars a year, it will be spending as much in North Vietnam as it does in Cuba—the two biggest thorns in our side. It hasn't changed its policy of killing American servicemen so long as it is not itself involved in the consequences.

Business Women's Week

We salute Ulster County Business and Professional Women's Club and all the working women of Ulster County.

This week is National Business Women's Week. Its purpose is to pay tribute to the accomplishments of women everywhere in business and professions, and the important role played by women in bettering the world in which we live.

The National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs was organized 50 years ago to elevate the standards for women in business and professions, and increase opportunities for them. How well they have succeeded is proved by the fact that there are now 28.4 million women in our nation's labor force.

We welcome this occasion to salute the business and professional women of our community, state and entire nation.

The Marines' tour of duty in Vietnam and the entire West Pacific will be reduced from 13 to 12 months effective November 1, according to the Pentagon. It applies to men serving in places overseas where their families are not permitted. 26,500 Marines have left Vietnam; 20,300 are slated to leave the Marine Corps this year. Marines don't ask to leave they earn it.

A villager of the Nile Delta has just died at the age of 100, leaving 18 children and 206 grand and great-grand children. This is not uncommon in the Middle East, but an increasing number of American men now attain this age, or close to it. Cheerful prospect? What about Christmas with 206 kids? Who can afford it?

"They Said They Were Looking for Us!"

David Lawrence Says Russia and Red China Real Enemies of U.S. in Vietnam

WASHINGTON — How many Americans know who are the real enemies of the United States in the Vietnam War? Two Governments have helped the North Vietnamese to kill or wound tens of thousands of Americans in the last five years. So, when an enemy boastfully and officially acknowledges the military assistance it is giving the Hanoi Government, the item might at least be expected to make news for our front pages.

This correspondent read many newspapers last Sunday morning and nowhere found printed a dispatch distributed by the United Press International wire on Saturday night which read as follows:

"Moscow — A North Vietnamese delegation led by Premier Pham Van Dong left Moscow Saturday to return to Hanoi.

"Soviet Premier Alexei Kosygin and other officials saw off the North Vietnamese at the railway station. The North Vietnamese will visit Volgograd, the former Stalingrad, en route to Hanoi.

"The delegation arrived last Monday and during its stay signed a new agreement for Soviet military and economic aid to North Vietnam for the coming year."

Reuters news service sent over its wires in this country on Monday afternoon the following dispatch:

"Hong Kong — Russia declared its readiness to give all necessary assistance to the Vietnamese Communists until they achieve complete victory in South Vietnam, a joint Soviet-North Vietnamese communique released today said.

"The communique issued at the end of a one-week visit to Russia by a North Vietnamese delegation led by Premier Pham Van Dong said Russia fully supported conditions put forward by the Vietnamese Communists for a settlement and demanded the U.S. put an end to its aggression and withdraw its troops from South Vietnam 'completely and unconditionally.'"

Developments of this kind have, of course, been reported in the press hitherto when similar action was taken. But somehow the information has never been given attention inside the United States, especially by dissenters who have been engaging in anti-war "demonstrations" and are supposed to be readers of the news in the press.

On Monday morning, some papers did print on the front page an Associated Press dispatch on the subject which said that, according to U.S. Government sources, the level of Soviet arms aid to Hanoi has dropped considerably in recent months but that this does not mean "any abandonment of Moscow's policy of large-scale material support for Hanoi's war effort."

The North Vietnamese, of course, needs less and less anti-aircraft equipment now because the United States has halted the bombing of the north. Also, the ground war in the south has been slowed down. The Associated Press said further:

"According to estimates from U.S. sources, total Soviet aid to North Vietnam reached a peak of about 700 million dollars in 1967, of which about 508 million was military and 200 million economic. In 1968, the year in which U.S. bombing of the North was cut back in April and halted entirely in November, Soviet arms aid is estimated to have dropped, to around 300 million."

But while military aid is being cut somewhat, economic aid is climbing. Red China is estimated to be continuing its assistance at the rate of approximately 200 million dollars a year, more than half of which is in military items, primarily small arms and ammunition. Communist East Europe has been providing about 145 million dollars of aid annually to North Vietnam.

Why hasn't this information been emphasized throughout the country? Why aren't the American people told how much the Soviets and the Red Chinese have done to bring about casualties in South Vietnam year after year? Do the critics in Congress approve of a continuance of diplomatic relations with any government that is actively helping the enemy?

What has the Senate Foreign Relations Committee done about this problem? Committee members snipe at their own government for trying to protect American troops in Vietnam by employing certain forces in Laos, but criticism of Russian and Red Chinese intrigue in Asia is being omitted. An open debate on Communist participation in the Vietnam war would be more constructive than the so-called "moratorium" speeches that have been made in recent days inside and outside of Congress.

Henry J. Taylor Says Packing the Federal Payroll

The October 14 Congress-approved pay increase to our total federal bureaucracy will cost the taxpayers $1.5 billion more this fiscal year and push up the inflation by $4.3 billion a year thereafter.

As our Congressmen did when they hiked their own pay an outrageous 41 per cent, they likewise did this with the sleek, bored, self-satisfied look of inside hanky-panky and privilege. It's high time we forced them to get off this filthy bandwagon.

The federal bureaucracy has increased 500 per cent during a period in which the population gain has been 63 per cent. For whose good? There are now more than three million job holders on the federal payroll, excluding those in hush-hush agencies like the CIA of whom the Civil Service Commission keeps no record whatever. And as our government's bigness has gone up our world successes and the value of our dollar, alike, have gone down.

For example, on July 1 last year we were hit with a $10 billion tax increase, right out of our hides. To soften up the public for this wallop the tax bill called for a rollback of federal payrollers by "drastic cuts." That's what the Washington handouts said. But on the eve of the rollback law Washington jumped the gun by packing the federal payroll with an additional 95,350 employees in that June alone — to another new high.

This trick alone — undisclosed — has since cost the taxpayers an estimated $750 million.

Actually, there are more federal employees than state noneducational employees in most states. Universally, they already get better pay — a cancerous situation further aggravated by the October 14 Congress-approved hike.

Take Ohio. The federal bureaucracy has twice as many noneducational employees in Ohio as has the State of Ohio, and their total pay is nearly three times that of the state workers.

According to the state's official figures I obtained in Columbus, the average 1968 weekly earning of noneducational state employees was $119.31. But the federal payrollers! They got an average $161.31.

The state's noneducational employment roll averaged 50,341 people. The federal payrollers averaged 102,090 within the state. The state payroll last year was $302 million. The Washington payroll in Ohio was $859 million. There are 88 counties. There are more federal employees of the federal octopus in just two Ohio counties (Montgomery and Cuyahoga) than there are state employees in the entire state.

The states' barrel-scraping problem accompanies this. In Ohio alone more than 450 local police and fire departments' pension funds — some nearly bankrupt — were consolidated a few years ago when the state discovered that these needed $413 million to make them actuarially sound. Ohio officials say Cleveland owes around $107.8 million; Cincinnati about $63 million, etc. The state has allowed some of the cities 59 years to repay the debt.

But to recruit and hold these and other employees the state and localities must compete with the gigantic federal bureaucracy. To do so they must increase taxes, which add to the inflation by causing price increases. And what can they do now in the face of Congress's latest pay hike?

Meanwhile, when the Congressmen themselves — by voice vote, and thereby unaccountable — voted themselves an outrageous 41 per cent pay increase, they set a swell example for the gigantic federal taxsucking octopus.

Jack Anderson Says Armed Forces Networks Suffer Under Drastic Censorship

WASHINGTON — For U.S. servicemen overseas, the Armed Forces Radio and Television Service is the hometown voice away from home. Now that voice is gasping from censorship.

From Taipei to Teheran, 1.5 million citizen-soldiers in 36 foreign countries and territories daily tune in, hoping for honest news and entertainment — the fare they get from their newspapers and radio at home. Residents of these lands also listen to AFRTS as a U.S. spokesman unburdened by the political weightiness of the Voice of America.

Now the professionals in AFRTS are in despair over the heavy hand of the Pentagon's information czar, John C. Broger, who has been given stranglehold power over the flow of news to AFRTS stations.

His office daily flags "sensitive" wire service stories which might be embarrassing to the Pentagon. This holds up the stories from going out on the AFRTS wire until deadlines are past or the news value has been lost. The effect usually is to kill the stories that the Pentagon doesn't like.

Broger's military deputies carry out his censorship policy with apparent relish. When Negro and white panelists discussed Dr. Martin Luther King's death on a taped AFRTS show, for example, Lt. Col. Harold "Jack" Meyer snapped at a subordinate: "I don't want you to put these niggers on the air."

Lt. Col. Harry Bangs, another deputy, throttled a special program prepared by his own staff, because a civil libertarian criticized religious indoctrination in the military.

Military Censorship

Even more damning is an inside report by Broger's chief military deputy, Col. Earl S. Browning, Jr., who conducted a month-long survey of the AFRTS in Africa, Europe and the Mideast. The report also touched on the army newspaper, Stars and Stripes.

"There had been almost daily incidents at both Stars and Stripes and Armed Forces Network," Browning reported to Broger, "where USEUCOM (U.S. European Command Brass) took exception to either the content or the presentation of news items."

The Armed Forces Network, Browning added triumphantly, "acknowledged that AFN had been at fault in several of these instances and stated they would take steps to curb the investigative reporting of their newsmen."

There was also talk of how "effective policy guidance" could be imposed on Stars and Stripes. In other words, reporters for the servicemen's newspaper and radio-TV network shouldn't be too enterprising in digging out stories unfavorable to the Pentagon.

Col. Browning, a sort of factual vacuum cleaner to judge by his report laid his findings on the line. In Spain and Morocco, he found "inadequate manning and slipshod programming practices." The station in Teheran was in disastrous shape.

Suicide and Desertion

Reported Browning: "The station manager arrived with a record of suicidal tendencies and lost little time before making another attempt at suicide. One of the announcers has been charged with desertion after creating many problems by his insistence on associating with drug addicts and other disreputable elements in Teheran."

Both were removed but were not replaced, leaving the station short-handed.

"The equipment now is in such bad shape that the American business community in Teheran has offered to take up a collection to buy new equipment so that the station will reflect a better image for American technology." It was so bad that Browning couldn't hear the signal "even though my hotel was within a few blocks of U.S. headquarters."

Along with the evidences of neglect and censorship in Browning's report were some sadly humorous touches on how far American stations have gone to appease the host countries.

In Britain, Irish revolutionary songs were deleted from a program called "Music Around the World." In Greece, stations avoid music from "Zorba the Greek" because it was written by a composer who opposes the Greek military dictatorship.

But U.S. stations in Arab lands have a unique problem. "Anyone appearing on TV with a patch over his eye is immediately taken to represent Moshe Dayan (the Israeli military hero)."

Broger's comment to questions about censorship was: "You must be kidding." As for other deficiencies, he said: "You can't run it from Washington."

Note: Another top Broger aide, Lt. Col. Dominick Puccio, recently retired from the Army and joined International Good Music, Inc., a Bellingham, Wash., electronics firm. Broger was then planning automation broadcast tests in Europe, which would give him even more control over AFRTS programming. Puccio took part in the tests, and his firm got the $100,000-plus contract for the equipment. Broger said he tried to get other firms to bid but only International came through.

Computer Talk

An astonished computer operator at Fort Bragg, N.C., home of some of the Army's most gung-ho fighting men, pushed his print-out buttons and got the following message:

"Try the 23rd ar" — Army Regulation:

"The Army is my crutch, I shall not think. It alloweth me to lie down on responsibility. It leadeth me blindly. It destroyeth my initiative. It leadeth me in the path of parasite for my country's sake. Yea though I walk through the valley of laziness, I will fear no achievement."

The parody ends with three initials standing for an obscenity against the army.

Another Vietnam Withdrawal

President Nixon is planning, as part of his Nov. 3 report to the nation on the Vietnam war, to announce troop withdrawal from Vietnam. White House insiders say that as high as 100,000 construction, maintenance and service troops can be pulled out without hurting U.S. combat effectiveness.

Meanwhile, the President has given orders to Gen. Creighton Abrams, the U.S. commander in Vietnam, to disengage gradually from the war and to turn the fighting over to the South Vietnamese. No longer are U.S. troops supposed to take offensive action. The results already are apparent in the reduced American casualties.

U.S. officers have warned, however, that the South Vietnamese Army isn't competent to take over the defense of the country. Its greatest deficiency is leadership: South Vietnamese commanders are selected more for their political connections than their military competency.

Under strong American pressure, President Thieu has agreed to shake up his military command. There is dismaying evidence, however, that he is still putting personal loyalties ahead of leadership abilities.

Battlefield Shifts

Nevertheless, the first moves have been made to pull the South Vietnamese army out of the village pacification program and send it to the combat areas to face the main communist forces. The Americans, meanwhile, are moving into defensive positions.

Intelligence experts, incidentally, aren't taking too much heart over the lull in fighting. Captured documents indicate that the communists have been hampered more by heavy rains along the infiltration routes than they have been held back by some new de-escalation policy. The troops in the field simply aren't getting enough supplies to launch an effective offensive.

The death of Ho Chi Minh has also compelled the communists to launch an exhaustive new indoctrination program. Evidently the communists fear that, without Ho to inspire the troops, they must condition the men politically and psychologically before renewing the war effort.

Those who study the captured documents believe the lull will last until the end of the year. The communists will use the lull, they predict, to build up for another big offensive. It's possible that they may attempt another spectacular Tet offensive next January. Unhappily, there is no evidence that Hanoi is willing to end the war, except on their terms.

Bane of Presidents

Nixon and Bureaucrats

By RAY CROMLEY

NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON (NEA) — It's small comfort to Mr. Nixon, but no president has, in fact, ever gained complete control over the bureaucracy.

President Truman used to complain about his difficulties in managing the men inherited from President Roosevelt's long tenure.

President Kennedy, in private talks with friends, had the same lament: about his inability to get orders carried out. (In desperation, he made wide use of the telephone and jumped channels to talk directly to the men he wanted to act, bypassing superiors with an abandon that set off silent but effective revolts within major departments of government.)

Men who served close to President Johnson are wont to tell strong stories about LBJ's frustrations in trying to pin down the men responsible for this or that action in the bureaucratic labyrinths.

On a lower level, Defense Secretary Robert McNamara instituted drastic reorganizations and ended up attempting to run the Pentagon through his own kitchen cabinet which disregarded channels completely. He handled key programs directly or with task forces controlled tightly by men he trusted.

So Nixon's problems are not new. His tribulations rather are a matter of degree. But in their intensity they seem more serious, say, than those of Kennedy.

Down the years, for example, individual bureaucrats have formed alliances with congressmen or congressional groups to get laws passed, sums voted or pressures brought to bear in contravention of what the administration in power desired.

This goes on in all administrations. But when a president lacks a majority in Congress, as Nixon does, these alliances between bureaucrats and congressmen become stronger. There is a constant stream of men from this department and that agency privately feeding material to sympathetic congressmen on the quiet.

Nixon's problems have been unique, in part, because of his own approach to patronage, partly dictated, it is believed, by a desire not to offend the Democratic majority in Congress.

In any event, for whatever reason, Nixon appointed his cabinet members and agency heads, then left personnel appointments largely to them. But Nixon's new department and agency chiefs, once appointed, had no time to act. They were immediately besieged by a multitude of crises that have occupied all their time in these nine months.

The Pentagon, the State Department were hit, with urgent clamor on the Vietnam war and troop withdrawals, the Middle East crisis, the effects of the Russian invasion of Czechoslovakia, Moscow's "approach" for arms limitation talks.

The Pentagon was confronted with the antiballistic missile fight in Congress, cost overruns on the CSA plane, problems with the Sheridan reconnaissance vehicle in Vietnam and the failure of the Cheyenne helicopter to prove up — added to a multimillion-dollar budget cutback.

The Justice Department found itself saddled with old desegregation policies that no longer were working and a staff determined to stick to them. Riots in the slums, confrontations in the colleges and Negro-white violence at construction sites seemed inevitable.

These crises have kept the new men so busy they have had little time to go into personnel changes. As new men, often unfamiliar with the byways in their vast departments, they have had to rely heavily on the higher echelon holdovers.

Dye Promises Renewed Efforts For Equitable Tax Assessment

TOWN OF KINGSTON Douglas V. Dye, majority leader of the Ulster County Legislature, today announced a renewed effort to insure an equitable tax assessment rate for the residents of Ulster County.

Dye said, "During my primary campaign, I attempted to show the residents of this county the gross shortcomings of our present assessment system. These injustices still exist, and they are still forcing property owners throughout the county to lose, unnecessarily, thousands of dollars a year in unfair tax assessment.

"As I have stated in the past, I believe there are solid, long-term solutions to this problem in the form of tax mapping and reappraisal. But until these changes are instituted, the residents of this county must be protected from further losses. This protection could be accomplished most readily by a two-phased reform of the present structure. First, the county could institute the position of county assessor, and hire a professional, experienced in this type of work, to work closely with each of the town assessors, thus insuring equitable assessments at a county level.

"The second phase of this reform," Dye said, "would be mandatory training for each town assessor upon his election to that office. For as it stands now, many of these men assume office with little knowledge of the complexities of the tax assessment structure, and, as a result, commit the errors that have caused the regretful state of tax assessment in our county. Proper training would, I am sure, put an end to these inequities to a large degree, especially when coupled with the watchful eye and guiding hand of a professional county assessor."

"I am also confident that the cost of these two services would be minimal to the taxpayer, especially in light of the tremendous savings that could result to each homeowner from such reforms."

Boardinghouse-Type Nursing Home Quietly Following the Others Out

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI) —The small boardinghouse-type nursing home is quietly going the way of the trolley car, the turntable, the five-cent cigar and the crew cut.

The change in New York State stems largely from a law enacted three years ago giving the Health Department responsibility for supervising the construction and operation of hospitals, nursing homes and other institutions providing health care.

"Nursing Home supervision over the last three years presented a real dilemma," Dr. Hollis S. Ingraham, state health commissioner, who has the job of upgrading nursing homes, said in an interview.

"On the one hand, there was a serious shortage of nursing home beds," he explained. "On the other hand, all too many of the beds in existence were in homes which fell far short of desirable standards."

"There was no instant solution," he added. "Should we allow patients to stay in unsatisfactory homes or should we close the homes and leave the patients with no place at all to stay?"

Living Cost Spiral Continues on High

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The cost of living to Americans jumped one-half of one per cent in September, the Labor Department reported today.

Just five days after President Nixon told the nation that the rate of price increases had slackened and was even declining in some cases, Labor Department officials said the cost of living index rose to 129.3 in September.

That meant it cost $12.93 to buy the same kinds of goods and services that $10 would buy in the 1957-58 base period.

The 0.5 per cent increase in September was even greater than August, when the rise was 0.4 per cent.

"Nearly everything in the (September) family budget was higher," Arnold Chase, assistant head of the Bureau of Labor Statistics, said.

"The only declines were in fresh fruits and vegetables and used cars."

Chase said the increase resulted mostly from higher prices for clothing, consumer services and home ownership.

With the 0.5 per cent increase in September followed by the 0.4 per cent jump in August, the consumer price index stood 5.8 per cent above a year ago and 4.5 per cent above last Jan. 1.

Chase said grocery price levels were unchanged from August, but pointed out they usually go down about 0.7 per cent from August to September. He said a rise in meat prices of 0.9 per cent, mainly due to a 2.6 per cent hike in pork prices, kept overall food prices from dropping.

The cost of home ownership jumped 0.9 per cent, and apparel prices advanced 1.7 per cent.

Prices for used cars dropped 3.2 per cent. But recent increases of transit fares pushed the cost of public transportation up 0.4 per cent, Chase said.

works will use up the remainder of the $500 million now available. The total number of beds involved in all the projects will be 21,165.

The construction of modern "proprietary" (operated for profit) nursing homes is booming across the state. An incentive for the private venture is the availability of Medicare and Medicaid funds for patient care.

The Health Department is responsible for seeing that the homes are well built, efficiently operated and provide high-quality care.

Periodic surveys by department specialists show the best scores are made by the bigger homes.

Ingraham said homes not approved for Medicare have an average of 48 beds, while those winning approval for the program average 114 beds.

The most frequent deficiencies involve nursing services, dietary services, social services, physical environment and utilization review, Ingraham said.

Two years ago, the most common short coming was utilization review which is a measure of efficiency, and 127 had this problem. This year, the number is down to 33. Nursing deficiencies declined from 82 to 71 while dietary deficiencies dropped from 100 to 83.

To meet the needs of the future based on today's estimate, 80 new nursing homes should be built and 178 existing homes should be phased out. Of the remaining existing homes, about half are now acceptable and the other half should be modernized.

"The law didn't create a magic wand; nursing home problems that took decades to develop can't be made to vanish instantly," Ingraham said in summing up the situation. "But, we're making progress."

Jansen Fowler, the Rev. David C. Gaise and Lloyd R. LeFever. Standing is "Attorney General" Vincent G. Connelly. This year's presentation, Those Were the Days, directed by Jim Thompson, also will be offered Friday and Saturday nights. Curtain time is 8:15 p.m. (Hoderath photo.)

Recovery Marks 2nd Thursday

KINGSTON

The local group of Recovery, Inc., will celebrate its second anniversary Thursday night, Oct. 23, during the regular meeting at Old Dutch Church, Wall and Main Streets at 7:30 o'clock.

Recovery, Inc., founded in 1937 by the late Dr. Abraham A. Low, associate professor of psychiatry and neurology at the University of Illinois Medical School, is defined by a spokesman of the local group as a self-help method of after care.

The statement added, "it in no way supplants the physician and no diagnosis, treatment, advice or counseling are offered. The patient is expected to follow the authority of his doctor or other professional. However, it is not necessary to have been hospitalized or under the care of a psychiatrist in order to take part in Recovery meetings. The average person also may gain benefits from the group's methods and techniques."

The spokesman also pointed out the Recovery method in three parts as follows: "First, studying Dr. Low's book, Mental Health Through Will Training offers countless explanations of nervous reaction, their effect upon the individual. Attendance at panel meetings where the principle of self-help is explained and the application by each individual of self-help principles."

Jew, Negro Capture Atlanta's Top Posts

ATLANTA (UPI)—Vice Mayor Sam Massell was chosen mayor of Atlanta Tuesday night in a bitter runoff election marred by charges of anti-Semitism.

Maynard Jackson, a Negro, became vice mayor elect in early balloting. When they take office in January, Atlanta will become the only Southern city to have a Jewish mayor and a Negro vice mayor.

"It was a people's victory," said Massell, 42, who was accused of abuse of power in an eleven-hour attack by retiring Mayor Ivan Allen Jr. Massell had rejected Allen's demand that he withdraw from the race.

With all 149 precincts counted, Massell had 61,588 votes, or 55.5 per cent of the turnout, to 49,455 votes for moderate Republican Alderman Rodney Cook.

Two Negro aldermen, Ira L. Jackson and Marvin Arrington, defeated white opponents in the runoff, but another black candidate failed in a bid for a school board seat. Jackson, the first Negro ever elected vice mayor of Atlanta, and several black aldermen were victorious in the first primary two weeks ago.

"We'll work together like two peas in a pod," said Jackson of Massell. "The city's image has taken a 100 per cent increase for the better."

Allen, quitting after eight years in office, had remained neutral in the runoff until Sunday when he released a police report accusing Massell of using a police vice squad captain to help Massell's brother, Howard, solicit campaign funds from nightclub owners.

Massell called the controversy "bad judgment," but denied any wrongdoing. He accused Allen and the "power structure" of anti-Semitism in trying to keep him out of office. Massell is Jewish.

Allen, 59, earlier had mounted an intensive campaign to get out the vote for the runoff, calling the turnout of 104,000 voters in the first election "a disgrace."

Atlanta has 218,000 registered voters, of whom about 40 per cent are Negroes. Allen's campaign failed, however, and the runoff balloting was only about 7,000 above the first election.

Public Service Commission Gets Penn-Central Case

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI)—Citizens' complaints of Penn Central freight operations, the Public Service Commission PSC Tuesday turned a report over to the Interstate Commerce Commission (ICC) but declined to take any action itself.

The PSC said it would keep the case open, but cited "recent improvements" in the company's freight service. Penn Central could be subject to fines if the ICC discovers any violation of federal regulations.

"Taking into consideration the recent improvement in the service established, and the Penn Central's insistence that normal operations are rapidly being resumed, it is recommended that no order be entered by this commission at this time," the PSC report said.

The report did outline a number of failings in Penn Central freight service including:

—Evidence of delays in transit, failure to furnish adequate switching facilities, failure to respond to claims, bunching of cars, failure to furnish cars when required, failure to notify shippers of crippled cars and lack of adequate communications with shippers.

—Inadequacy of serviceable equipment, power equipment, particularly diesel engines, is in disrepair and essential measuring instruments are inaccurate.

—Some roadbeds are in need of repair, requiring below normal speeds to insure safety.

—At times there are inadequate employees available to do a particular job even when adequate equipment is available.

—Repairs are not made in a reasonable time, and equipment in disrepair has been continued in use resulting in derailments that block tracks and delay other trains.

The PSC noted that since the probe of Penn Central freight service began, the number of complaints received by the commission has declined considerably.

The commission also noted that the railroad has submitted new standards and regulations aimed at solving the problems.

Panther Head Negotiating Exchange Plan

CHICAGO (UPI)—Exiled Black Panther party leader Eldridge Cleaver is working for the release of U.S. prisoners of war in exchange for freedom for two jailed Panthers, according to a defendant in the Chicago riot conspiracy trial.

Rennie Davis told newsmen Tuesday Cleaver had relayed word of the reported negotiations from Algiers through Panther headquarters in Oakland, Calif.

Davis said the plans call for release by North Vietnam of an unspecified number of POWs in exchange for freedom for Huey P. Newton, imprisoned in California, and Bobby Seale, one of the Chicago defendants. Cleaver, minister of information for the Panthers, fled the United States in 1968 after his parole was revoked.

Davis said he had been told Cleaver asked that members of "the conspiracy"—as the defendants call themselves—do "everything possible" to help such an exchange.

Davis and David Dellinger, another of the Chicago defendants, declined to answer when asked what interest North Vietnam would have in the release of Panthers.

Brandt's Streamlined Cabinet Takes Over in West Germany

BONN (UPI)—Chancellor Willy Brandt's streamlined 15-man cabinet, put together in a record of 24 days, took office today. The cabinet reflected in part his desire for friendly ties with Communist East Germany.

The ministers were receiving their certificates of appointment from President Gustav Heinemann this morning and then taking the oath of office before the Bundestag, or lower house of parliament.

Brandt, elected Tuesday by the Bundestag as West Germany's fourth chancellor and first Social Democratic head of government, announced the cabinet list Tuesday night.

The 55-year-old chancellor said the cabinet would include 12 members of his Social Democratic party and three members of the Free Democrats, a small group that provided him the margin of victory in his rise to the chancellery.

An indication of the reforms planned by Brandt was seen in his renaming of the Ministry for All German Questions. Under Social Democrat Egon Franke, it will be known as the Ministry for Inner-German Relations.

The new name reflected Brandt's efforts to arrange what he has defined as a "regulated co-existence" with the Communist regime in East Germany. Named foreign minister, a post Brandt held for the past three years under former Chancellor Kurt Georg Kiesinger, was Walter Schell, the 50-year-old leader of the Free Democrats. He also will have the rank of vice chancellor. Brandt reduced the number of ministries from 19 to 15, mainly by eliminating those posts originally created to provide additional jobs for diverse elements of the Christian Democratic party, which has feuded since the republic was created 20 years ago.

Social Democrats said Brandt's efficiency in forming and streamlining the government underlined his determination to be a chancellor of "inner reform."

In forming his cabinet three and a half weeks, Brandt broke the previous record of five weeks set by the late Konrad Adenauer in 1949 when he formed the republic's first government.

Fire Damage

DURBAN, South Africa (UPI)—A fire which set off explosions of ammunition on Durban's docks Monday caused more than $14 million damage.

There were no casualties in the fire, which swept five railway warehouses. Police officials said the cause was undetermined.

SAUGERTIES NEWS

Glasco Project Near Completion

SAUGERTIES Work on the Glasco Water District improvement program by Spinneweber Construction Co. is coming along very well according to reports by Saugerties Councilman George Turner.

The new 12-inch main which winds its way through the entire Barclay Heights area has been completely installed and the contractor is now in the process of testing the lines. Two breaks have been a cause of some minor problems so far, but these are to be expected in a project of this size, Turner said.

Spinneweber is also in the process of tying the 12-inch line to the existing 8-inch lines in strategic places so as to provide a continuous flow of water and additional pressure.

Councilman Turner advises residents of the Glasco Water District that riled water may be experienced at times but that it should be of short duration. Spinneweber Construction Co. has been instructed to tie in some lines where deadends existed. In these areas, heavy riling may be present at times due to silt accumulation in these deadends over the periods of years.

The contractor is expected to start repairing streets and shoulders which have had to be broken to lay the mains. This part of the work should start

Standings Hold In Dart Loop

SAUGERTIES There were no changes in the standings of the four leaders in Saugerties Dartball League following this week's contests. Trinity won a 2 to 1 split from Centerville Vols and held on to first place. Golden Eagles improved its position with a shut-out of Bonelli's Pizzeria and Quarryville won a 2 to 1 split from West Camp Palatines.

In other splits St. Mary's won over Cementon Sportsmen and High Woods Sportsmen topped Centerville.

Garage Sale

The Senior Choir of Saugerties United Methodist Church will sponsor a Garage Sale at the home of Mr. and Mrs. David Jones, 14 Washington Avenue Ext., Saugerties, opposite the high school, on Saturday, from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. Items for sale will include tables, chairs, baby furniture, toys, antiques, chests, bric-a-brac, lamps, and many items too numerous to mention. The public is cordially invited to attend this sale that will benefit the piano fund of the church.

ing this period of riled water, dust, ditches, and noise. Turner felt that the project would be completed within the next four to six weeks and that everything should be back to normal within a short period of time.

Turner concluded that the project would provide better water pressure, additional hydrants, and a larger water reserve to meet any and all needs.

Statewide Scholarship Program Listed by K of C

SAUGERTIES $2,400 will be made to the student receiving the highest grade in the finals of the competitive examination. The total value of the awards throughout the state is $40,000.

Saugerties Council Knights of Columbus 4536 this week announced its 1970 scholarship program. The program consists of four district and one statewide scholarships.

Saugerties students will be competing in District Six (Chenango, Columbia, Delaware, Dutchess, Greene, Orange, Otsego, Putnam, Rockland, Sullivan and Ulster Counties).

The program is open to any Catholic graduate of a recognized high school in New York State in January or June 1970. Awards will be based on the results of the College Entrance Board Test in scholarship aptitude given in November or on December 6.

The awards may be used at any college in the U.S. under Catholic auspices, subject to the approval by the scholarship committee. All applications must be filed by October 31. The forms are available at Saugerties High School or by contacting Richard Falzano.

The district awards are one $1,400, two $800 and one $600. Each award covers a four-year period. A statewide award of

Girl Scouts of Area Review Camping Plans

SAUGERTIES Camping plans for the 1970 season were discussed at the October meeting of Saugerties Girl Scout Neighborhood Association held recently at Saugerties Savings Bank. Representatives were present from 28 of the 31 troops registered.

The Katrina Day Camp held by the Ulster County Council of Girl Scouts at Sawkill during the past summer was very successful.

An outline of troop budgeting and requirements concerning fund raising by troops was given by Mrs. Harry Hoffman, neighborhood chairman.

Troop leaders who would like to have senior scouts help their girls with program activities are asked to contact Mrs. John Luley, senior advisor, so that girls best qualified for the activity can be selected.

The October Song Fest for Scouts of all age levels and their families will be held at Cantine Field on Saturday from 7 to 8:30 p.m.

An impressive candlelight investiture ceremony was held under the direction of Mrs. Heath

Tong, troop consultant. Approximately 21 new adult scouts, seven of whom are now serving on troop committees, were invested. Several of the newly recruited leaders had been invested previously, and they, along with all those present, rededicated themselves to the ideals of Girl Scouting.

Masons to Meet

Ulster Lodge 193 F&AM will hold its next scheduled meeting tonight. In addition to officers moving up night, there will be a talk with slides by a visiting Brother, Past Master M. H. Beavers of East Orange Lodge 208, East Orange, N.J. Topic will be on his recent visit to England and the Grand Lodge of England.

Snowmobile Club

The Snow Drifters Snowmobile Club will organize Thursday 8 p.m. at the old Quarryville schoolhouse, Route 32 at Blue Mountain Road. All snowmobile owners are welcome. Further information may be had by calling Judith Stoly.

VFW Mask Dance Slated

SAUGERTIES A masquerade dance will be held Saturday from 9 to 1 at the VFW Hall in Saugerties. Music will be by The Country Three. Prizes will be awarded and beverages and refreshments provided.

Tickets may be purchased at the door, Bosco's Barber Shop or from members of the Loyalty Day Committee. This will be the first of a series of dances sponsored by the VFW Post 5034 and Auxiliary to earn money to sponsor the Loyalty Day Parade next May.

Methodist Retreat

The Hudson North District of the Women's Society of Christian Service will hold a one day Ashrum on Nov. 1. The retreat will be a way of renewing spiritual vigor within the societies and the local church. It will be held at the Mt. Tremper Lutheran Camp at Mt. Tremper. If the weather permits there will be an outdoor program. All Methodist women may attend for the day 10 a.m. until 4 p.m. The leader will be the Rev. Frederick J. Imhoff.

Halloween Art Contest

Saugerties Jaycees announced there is still time for local junior and senior high school youngsters to register for the Halloween Window Painting Contest to be judged Saturday. Cash awards of $10 first and $5 second are offered in each of three categories. Paint supplies and windows will be assigned at the vacant lot next to Montano's shoe store. Participants should bring their own paint.

Ecumenical Gift

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—The University of Southern California, a nonsectarian private university founded in 1880, was built on land donated by a Catholic, a Jew and a Protestant.

Halloween Party For Youngsters Slated Sunday

WOODSTOCK The annual Woodstock Halloween party for youngsters has been scheduled for Sunday, at the Woodstock Town Hall.

The first portion of the party will be held from 1 to 2:30 p.m. for children under six years of age, accompanied by an adult. Children, aged seven through 12, will have their own party from 2:45 to 4:15 p.m.

Free cider, doughnuts, and candy should attract the youngsters to this afternoon of fun and games. Free pumpkins may be picked up at the Town Hall from 11 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. A pumpkin decorating contest will be held during each segment of the party. Costume contests will also be held and prizes awarded. Games will include the Halloween favorite of apple bobbing. It is all free, sponsored by the Woodstock Jaycees.

Court Sentences Arabs

HEBRON, Occupied Jordan (UPI)—An Israeli military court Monday sentenced two Hebron Arabs to 20 years in prison for anti-Israeli activities. Israeli security forces charged the Arabs monitored radioed commands from Al Fatah guerrillas in Amman, including an order to set off a truckload of explosives in downtown Jerusalem. They were seized before they could do it, Israeli said.

Two Fact Sheets on Election Will Be Distributed by LVW

WOODSTOCK The Voters Service Committee of Woodstock League of Women Voters has prepared two timely publications focusing on the local offices and the candidates who will be on the November ballot.

Beginning next week Woodstock Town Facts will be distributed in the village of Woodstock and Hurley Town Facts in West Hurley. These profile sheets contain background information on all the candidates for office from Hurley and Woodstock. They will also be distributed at the Jaycees candidates' meetings.

The League assisted the Jaycees at their Candidate Night on Oct. 21 at the West Hurley School auditorium. On Oct. 22, Mrs. Frank Falknor, League member, addressed the Jaycees during their membership meeting. She presented the pros and cons of the proposed amendments to the State Constitution.

Mrs. Carl Grant is Voters Service Chairman, others working with her are Mrs. Walter J. Rhodes, posters: Mrs. Lola Craig and Mrs. Bela Csonka, typists, and Mrs. Kenneth Gold, publicity.

Plan Scrutinized

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The American Motors Corp. plan to buy Kaiser Jeep Corp. for $86 million is being scrutinized by the Justice Department. Although Asst. Atty. Gen. Richard W. McLaren would not comment directly, a spokesman said any acquisition of this size would be investigated by the government. American Motors ranked 131st among the nation's top 500 industrial sales last year and Kaiser Jeep ranked 123rd.

Pattern to CC: Ready to Help

By ALBERT J. CAWEIN
KINGSTON
Regional Development is a broad, high sounding title which probably doesn't mean too much to planners on the community level until the program is understood.
Leaders at the local level are not too impressed by the work of the Mid-Hudson Pattern for Progress because what they are mainly interested in is "What are they going to do for me and my community."
This is what the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce Tuesday breakfast meeting was all about.
The speaker, C. David Looks, president of Pattern for Progress outlined rather broadly how the organization can help local communities with planning and development problems.

He said his organization was ready to step in and help the Kingston area when Kingston is ready for help.
This infers that Kingston needs an organization to present plans for the future and set priorities.
Len Cane, Chamber executive vice president said later he is studying plans to meet this challenge and agrees that what the Kingston area needs is an organization of dedicated leaders to draft plans for the future and set up priorities. He said the PFP planner cited the current Newburgh project which will exceed $62,000,000 and includes housing and urban renewal for the downtown area of that Orange city.

Looks' talk indicated that PFP is ready to help, but the problem must be presented to them for study and evaluation. Organization is needed to gather the facts and do the necessary ground work and then present a priority of programs needed by a community.
More than 60 area business men including some planners at the county and local level were time for discussion is over and in attendance. Chamber President Dean M. Kintner introduced Looks. Following a short question and answer period was conducted.

He spoke on the proposed county airport and touched upon the costs and usage of the proposed airport. With him are (L) Ed Carle, Kerhonkson club president; Milton Makowsky, RV president and Ernest Myer, deputy district governor of Region 3. (Photo by Saul).

Ellenville Hospital Dance

ELLENVILLE, "Just the people of our area which can benefit our patients." Donor subscriptions to the Ellenville Community Hospital fourth annual dinner dance, Nov. 23 at the Homowack Lodge, are currently available, according to Louis Resnick, chairman of the hospital board dinner committee. The $100 a couple fund-raising event is the only program sponsored by the board of directors of the community non-profit hospital to secure financial support for the institution.

Invitations have been mailed to those who have attended in previous years, and a new mailing list is being developed. The committee would appreciate suggestions or names of those to whom additional invitations should be mailed. Individuals or business firms who wish dinner invitations should contact the new and expensive equipment must be continuously Resnick, any member of the hospital board, or Evald Bors, medical technological advances Koefoed, hospital administrator.

First Annual Award

Saugerties Ambulance Is Honored

SAUGERTIES Ambulance Service, Inc., of Saugerties, was presented with the first annual First Aid Squad of the Year Award at the October meeting of the Ulster County Ambulance Association held at the West Hurley firehouse.

The award is based on outstanding service during an ambulance emergency which is above the normal work performed on an ambulance call. Saugerties Ambulance Service received the award for saving the life of a woman who may have died from the loss of blood before the arrival at a hospital. On the award winning case, Elton Johnson was the emergency medical technician in attendance, with Clifton Jones of the Saugerties Ambulance Service and an emergency medical technician, as the driver of the vehicle.

Both men had completed the Medical Emergency Technician courses at Ulster County Community College, which were set up in cooperation with the Ulster County Ambulance Association, the Ulster County Medical Society and the New York State Health Department.

Presentation of the award was made by Gilbert E. Gray of Doctor's Ambulance Service, past president of the association.

The UCAA was formed to upgrade and train ambulance services to benefit the people of Ulster County.

Members of the association are Doctor's Ambulance Service, Kingston, West Hurley Fire Dept. First Aid Squad, Elenville and Marletown First Aid Squads, Kerhonkson-Accord First Aid Squad, Margaretville Memorial Hospital Ambulance, Town of Shandaken Ambulance Service, Plattekill Fire Dept. First Aid Squad, Wallkill Fire Department First Aid Squad and the Saugerties Ambulance Service, Inc.

Belated Honors in Saugerties Area For Two Centerville Fire Volunteers

SAUGERTIES At a recent testimonial dinner for charter members of Centerville and Cedar Grove Fire Companies, 24 of the charter members of Centerville were honored posthumously.

In the ensuing publicity about the dinner, two of the charter members presumed deceased made their presence known and they were honored at a recent meeting of Centerville Vois.

Members of the testimonial dinner committee had written to all whose names were on the charter and had made several inquiries about those deceased. They found only two, Roy Van Vliet, a former chief, and Valentine Fussick.

Two others, Thorwald Wolsen of Malden and his brother, Louis Wolsen of Saugerties, Woodstock Road, were found after the ceremonies.

The latter two also will be presented with plaques from the company in recognition of their work as charter members.

All of the charter members of the younger Cedar Grove Fire Company were presumed to be living and those in attendance were presented with plaques.

Centerville Fire Company was organized April 14, 1923, and Cedar Grove was formed in 1949. Nearly 200 volunteer firemen, friends and residents of the district attended the dinner and program at Solway House, Centerville.

Teachers Take Special

KINGSTON More than 30 teachers from the Kingston City Schools and several other Hudson Valley School Districts are presently participating in a workshop designed to prepare the teachers to deal more effectively with children who have specific learning disabilities.

Miss Margaret Garner, a learning disabilities specialist with the Schenectady City Schools, is conducting the course, which includes theoretical constructs as well as making teaching materials which can be used in the implementation of these constructs.

Kenneth Hyatt, coordinator of special education for the Kingston schools, pointed out that the number of participants far exceeded the number expected. He said, "This is especially significant since the course is being held on Saturday mornings during the largest part of the first semester. The excellent attendance and high interest that has been demonstrated so far makes it highly probable that the course will be offered again in the near future," he added.

Teachers and others who would be interested in this course in the future may contact Hyatt at the pupil personnel office, 403 Broadway, Kingston.

Trooper Lauds Area Groups in Aero Operation

MIDDLETOWN

The services of several volunteer organizations were commended last week by the New York State Police Troop F commander for "their cooperation and assistance during the search operation in Aero Lake, Port Ewen."

County police authorities and other emergency units were seeking the body of Harry Lyons of Port Ewen, who was reported missing when he failed to return from a duck hunting trip on the lake. His body was later found in the lake.

Major John W. Monahan wrote individual letters to Port Ewen Fire Department, the Ladies Auxiliary of the Fire Department and Port Ewen Businessmen's Association, expressing the sincere appreciation of the state police for the assistance provided during the search.

Major Monahan also wrote a letter to Town of Esopus Supervisor George Freer advising him of the cooperation by these organizations.

Arrives in Peking

TOKYO (UPI) — Premier Pham Van Dong of North Vietnam arrived in Peking Tuesday, the New China News Agency said today. The Hanoi delegation arrived from Moscow where it conferred with Kremlin leaders.

DONALD E. GLINDMYER

Potentate Visits on Thursday

KINGSTON
Albert E. Hobush, president of the Ulster County Shrine Club, has announced that Donald E. Glindmyer, Potentate of Cyprus Temple, will make an official visit to the Shrine Club on Thursday night.

The event will be held at The Capri "400" with dinner served at 7:30 p.m. Cyprus Temple is one of the many Shrine Temples that support the 19 Crippled Children's Hospitals and the three Burns Institutes that are operated by the Shrine.

The Ulster County Shrine Club is one of the seven Shrine Clubs under the jurisdiction of Cyprus Temple and is active in helping to support these institutions. Through the sponsorship of Vice-president Dave Gruberg a young boy from the county suffering from sclerosis has been treated at the Springfield Hospital unit and has benefited greatly by the services he has received.

The local club has presented wheel chairs to the three county hospitals and the Cerebral Palsy Clinic in the name of Bob Browning, who was a life member of the organizations. Each year when the Shrine Circus is held in Albany the members have donated admission tickets to the children of Ulster County and many bus loads of happy youngsters from the area schools have enjoyed the trip to Albany. An award has been made each year to the Emma Wygant School for the benefit of the graduating class.

The present officers are Albert E. Hobush, president; David Gruberg, first vice-president; Sarantos Matthews, second vice-president; Otto Scherrieble, treasurer; Larry Bogert, secretary, and Joseph Flowers, imperial representative. Any reader who may know of a child who might be helped at the Crippled Children's Hospital is invited to contact any of these nobles for assistance.

Area Library Starts Program For Children

KINGSTON
The Kingston Area Library has scheduled a series of story hours to be held each Friday at 4 p.m. The first will be on Friday, Oct. 24. Mrs. Mable Markel, children's librarian, announced that all children ages six through 10 may participate.

The Story hours will be conducted by members of local service organizations who donate their time to this hour of fun and fantasy. Groups who have volunteered or help during the coming weeks include Welcome Wagon, Coach House Players, American Association of University Women, Jaycees, B'nai B'rith, Y Wives and the Girl Scouts.

In addition to the story program, a special picture book session for three and four year olds will be held each Thursday from 2 to 2:30 beginning on Oct. 23. The activities are free of charge. The Children's Library is open Monday through Saturday from 1 to 5 p.m. and serves children from the greater Kingston area.

MRS. DAVID STOTT

Pre-School Ed Demand Grows In the Area

Fair Street Nursery School's large enrollment this year necessitated the addition of another class to the school's five daily groups. Mrs. J. David Stott, of Woodstock, who is state certified, with four years experience, teaches the new sixth class which meets every afternoon from 1 to 3:30.

Mrs. Stott did her undergraduate work at Green Mountain College and her teacher training at SUNY, Brockport. She taught for a year near her home-town of Niagara Falls, and the following three years in Rockaway, N.J., before moving with her husband, an engineer with IBM, to California. The Stotts have recently returned to the east.

Other teachers at Fair Street Nursery School include Mrs. Benjamin Emerick, director, who founded the school in 1949; Mrs. Raymond Nelson, wife of the headmaster of the new Ulster Academy, who joined Fair Street last year when an overflow enrollment necessitated the addition of a fifth class, and Mrs. Lincoln Christensen, in her ninth year with the school.

Non-profit and non-sectarian, the six classes meet daily, three in the morning from 9 to 11:30 and three in the afternoon from 1 to 3:30 in rooms designed for school use in the modern Education Building of the Fair Street Church. Over 1200 children from the age of three to those who just miss kindergarten, have begun their education at Fair Street, a child-development center for the pre-school child — the only pre-school in the area to be registered with the State Education Department in Albany.

Weigert Heads Local Chapter

KINGSTON
The Kingston chapter of Parents Without Partners installed Lou Weigert to succeed Bea Jaenisch as president of the chapter at a dinner recently.

Other officers installed were Bea Jaenisch as vice-president, Fred Schussler as treasurer, Marilyn Flanagan as secretary and Fay Musso as membership secretary.

The invocation at the ceremony was given by the Rev. Edwin Coon, who along with his wife, were honored guests for the evening at the Capri Restaurant in Port Ewen. The Kingston chapter, No. 383, was started in January by Bea Jaenisch and Fay Musso and has 50 members to date.

A spokesman for the chapter said "it has been proven that there is a need for such a chapter"—one of 410 chapters in the United States, Canada and Australia.

"The primary endeavor of PWP is for conscientious single parents to bring their children to healthy maturity with the full sense of being loved and accepted as persons, and with the same prospects for normal adulthood as children who mature with their two parents together," he said.

Parents Without Partners is an international non-profit organization devoted to single parents and their children, said the spokesman. "To be eligible for membership, a person must be a parent and single by reason of death, divorce, separation, unmarried or other reason which may be acceptable by PWO," he said. The chapter's address is Central Post Office Box 343, Kingston.

Red Hook JCs Still Selling Extinguishers

RED HOOK
"Fire Prevention Week (Oct. 5 to 11) is over, but its goals live on," says the Red Hook Jaycees, who have sold more than 75 all-purpose fire extinguishers in an effort to increase community awareness of fire safety.

The sale is continuing through this week, a Jaycee spokesman said, who called it "an excellent opportunity to order, at cost, that much-needed extinguisher for the home, boat or car."

Mrs. William Clappitt of Red Hook is accepting telephone orders at her home for the organization.

Ellenville Exam

KINGSTON
Announcement of an open competitive examination for a Building Inspector III in the Village of Ellenville to be held Dec. 6 has been announced by the Ulster County Civil Service Commission. At present one vacancy exists.

Candidates must have been a legal resident of Ellenville for at least four months immediately preceding the date of the written test.

Qualifications include graduation from a standard high school course and three years experience in building construction work or graduation from a recognized college course with a degree in engineering or architecture, or any equivalent combination of training and experience.

Astronomers Claim Finding Planet Same Size as Earth

ITHACA, N.Y. (UPI) — A team of astronomers, headed by a Cornell University scientist, say they may have discovered a planet approximately the size of earth.

Dr. Thomas Gold, chairman of Cornell's radiophysics and space research department, said the existence of the planet is indicated by a wobble observed in the pulsation rate from a neutron star in the Crab nebula. The star of pulsar, is named NPO532 and is about 6,000 light years from the solar system.

The planet is not only the same size as earth, but it orbits around the star. It is approximately the same distance from the star as Mercury is from the Sun, Gold reported.

"It is by no means clear yet whether an explanation in terms of a planet around the pulsar is the only possible one," Gold explained, "but the possibility exists."

The discovery is a result of observations made by a team, headed by Gold, at Arecibo Ionospheric Observatory in Puerto Rico. The team included D.W. Richards, Gordon H. Pettengill, C.C. Counselman and J. Rankin.

"There is no other case of any astronomical observation of planets as small as the Earth in the vicinity of other stars," Gold said. He added that it is far easier to detect a planet orbiting a pulsar than to find a body orbiting a star similar to the Sun.

Conditions on the NPO532 planet, if it exists, would be greatly different from the Earth according to Gold. "The total power output from the pulsar is very much greater than that from the Sun," Gold said, "and any planet at such a distance would be exceedingly hot."

The Arecibo observatory team discovered, Gold said, that NPO 532 emits a "slight but remarkable variation in its pulsing rate."

"This variation, over three months, amounts to 6-10,000ths of a second. This may be interpreted as a wobble in the position of the pulsar," according to Gold. Wobbles have not been observed in other pulsars, he said.

The wobble involves a distance of about 200 kilometers, Gold said, and "such a wobble could be due to the possession of a planet."

Mayors, UR Heads Unhappy

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A group of New York State mayors and urban renewal officials let George Romney, head of the Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD), know what they think of him in no uncertain terms Tuesday.

"He's brainwashed" and "Romney's out of touch with the cities," were among the cries heard as Mayor Joseph W. Esworthy of Binghamton suggested the group ask President Nixon to "axe" Romney. The officials were unhappy with the administration's delay in funding of renewal projects.

Sen. Charles E. Goodell, R-N.Y., spoke with his home state and assured them he would work for the $1.6 billion they wanted for the projects, but he was not able to temper the wrath directed at Romney who was not at the meeting.

The House has appropriated some $850 million for urban renewal and the administration has requested $1 billion. Goodell said, however, it appeared unlikely the Senate and House would appropriate the $1.6 billion already authorized.

And while Goodell said he supported their requests for more funds, he said Romney was not alone at fault "because he's trying to get more money too."

The senator urged the mayors to go to HUD to make known their complaints that "they HUD are not in touch with what is going on and as you say it's a chaotic situation."

Esworthy, in an emotional exchange with Goodell, said he was so "uptight" with HUD's policies "I wish to hell I was not a Republican mayor and on President Nixon's mayors' committee for president."

He said Goodell and his fellow New York Republican, Sen. Jacob K. Javits, were "not against us but you've got the worst stinking HUD, totally out of touch with the cities."

"Let him (Romney) see what is going on in the cities. He's been up on cloud nine for too long."

Mayor John G. Donzella of Ossining, N.Y., complained that for years its urban renewal project was delayed because of the proposed Hudson River expressway and "in waiting, our village has become a shambles, especially in our business area."

"How much longer are we going to kid the public...let's get off our duff and do something?" Donzella asked.

Replying to Donzella, Goodell said, "you've used some pretty strong words" and cautioned that problems of the nation including a $30 billion a year commitment in Vietnam, inflation and the need to reorder priorities were partly to blame.

"I'll vote for as much money as we can get," said Goodell. "But we are going to have to cut somewhere."

Opening of Woodstock's Big Deep Promised by Dem Candidate

WOODSTOCK way for the good of the whole community, the town arrests them for trespassing when they want to see the beauty of the Big Deep.

"The new generation of young Woodstockers, which puts philosophical objectives above materialistic values, has offered to keep Big Deep in order," said Richard Crane, Democratic candidate for Town Justice in Woodstock, in a statement released today.

"Instead of encouraging our young people to participate in our society in a constructive

Saugerties Conservatives Back Emerick, Hallion

SAUGERTIES tickets for town councilman. Hallion outdistanced all other contenders for that office and polled the largest number of votes on both the Republican and Conservative lines. We urge all voters to re-affirm that confidence by re-electing him this November.

"May we also remind the voters," Mrs. Everts stated, "that two councilmen are to be elected this November, and that the Conservatives for Emerick and Hallion are also backing Francis (Sonny) Myer, the Republican Conservative candidate for the second Councilman position."

Speaking for the Conservatives supporting the two men are Frances B. Everts and Edwin E. Olson who state:

"Four years ago, both the Republican and Conservative Parties demonstrated their confidence in Hallion by bidding for the second Councilman position."

Supervisor Candidates Speak

TOWN OF ULSTER Carmine Sabino, Republican candidate for supervisor of the Town of Ulster, and Robert Stedje, former Town Justice and present Conservative and Democratic candidate for the post, spoke before the Town of Ulster Kiwanis Club Monday.

The issues which both expect to confront are a master plan in the township, a zoning ordinance which may be presented in the spring, town office space and a garage, a recreation program, improved highway facilities, and the problems of how to bring more townspeople to participate in the functioning of town government.

Sabino stated a priority for the town garage, but acknowledged all problems as being important. Stedje stated that all problems should be worked out on a broad front and on a common base.

There was a sharp exchange from several in the crowd over party loyalty and the dictates of a caucus. All three party chairmen were in evidence and comments were brisk. Sabino accused Stedje of wearing more hats than his head could support which Stedje indicated was out of order since a supervisor must of necessity wear at least two left to the community and for hearings on the issue. Sabino to perform the duties of his office. The Republican Party contingent was quite critical of Stedje for switching allegiance, expressed views of those who came to attend the public commission. Sabino did not commit a personal view, but recreation. Stedje would create recreational facilities on the recommendations of a park commission.

Houle Gives the Reasons Why

TOWN OF ULSTER Walter Houle, Democratic chairman of the Town of Ulster, said today that many Ulster Democrats have questioned the party leadership regarding the endorsement of Republican Planning Board Chairman and former Town Justice, Robert Stedje, for the office of supervisor.

Stedje, according to Houle, was endorsed for two reasons. First, the committee felt there was no one in the town in any political party who was more qualified by virtue of his experience, education, ability, integrity, interest in town affairs, and willingness to serve his community.

Second, it was thought that if the Democratic Party did not put up a candidate of its own for the top position, the Republican voters, in fairness to themselves, might be more receptive to giving the Democrats at least a minority voice in the form of a board member who could offer constructive criticism and a fresh viewpoint.

The Democratic chairman made it clear that at no time did Stedje solicit the endorsement of the Democratic Party. He accepted, according to Houle, on the understanding that philosophically he was a Republican and on the basis, proposed programs of years.

Houle pointed out that Stedje did not seek the Republican nomination because his Board has taken in the last few years.

Seeks New Term

ROSENDALE resolving differences between Harry C. Snyder, Republican the town and village of councilman of Rosendale for Rosendale during the past year, four years, is seeking reelection to the mutual advantage of both governing units.

As councilman he served on the Perrine Bridge Committee and the Police Committee. He laid out the new election and has districts utilizing his complete knowledge of the town and has supported the town recreation program, the work of the town planning and zoning boards and, in many instances, initiated constructive legislation enacted by the town board during the past four years.

While being described as "a more conservative member of the town board he has supported every bit of progressive town legislation and was instrumental in the preparation and adoption of the town budget which held taxes in line and in some instances reduced them."

KOENIG: Sewers Are Problems

KINGSTON — Francis R. Koenig, Democrat-Liberal candidate for mayor, said today that one of the most important problems of the city must take under immediate advisement is that of the city's antiquated sewer system.

"The future development of our city depends on immediate planning," Koenig said. "We must set up a survey to establish orderly growth within our city, taking into consideration long-range community problems."

Koenig said one of those major problems was the city's sewer system. "Under a great deal of the almost 125 miles of streets that comprise the City of Kingston, there is a labyrinth of conduits that form one of the most important adjuncts of our municipality," he said. "Proper Maintenance and repair of our sewers, constant, careful inspection and surveillance of them is a matter of utmost importance."

The Democratic candidate continued, "We have been most fortunate in Kingston for a number of years, in that we have had no city-wide break down in our sewer system. But we cannot always depend in the future, on our past good fortune. Instead we must plan now, and plan most carefully."

"If I am privileged to be your mayor," Koenig stated, "I will at once institute a complete survey under the direction of the engineering department to determine the immediate needs of the city and to set up a scheduled program for the eventual overhauling of the entire system with this kind of careful, prudent planning, our city will be better equipped to anticipate future problems and to revamp and revitalize this matter so essential to the health and welfare of the entire city," Koenig said.

In line with my constant concern for the taxpayers, and in an effort to keep taxes down that might be required for these forward looking programs, the Democratic candidate for mayor concluded that he would apply for an available Federal and State funds to assist in financing these proposals.

SINGER: No Reduction in Crime

KINGSTON — Bernard Singer, the Conservative candidate for mayor, has responded to the challenge of Francis R. Koenig, his Democrat-Liberal opponent, who demanded proof that the city was crime ridden.

Singer said, "Have a towel, Mr. Koenig. You're all wet and it shows." Singer said his statements on law and order were important to Kingston and that they "disturbed Mr. Koenig so much that he challenged me to back up my charges of increased crime in our city."

Singer said, "We hope that Mr. Koenig exercises more care in the future and doesn't resort to red herring tactics to avoid sticking to the issues. The truth is that there has been more crime and that law and order should be of more concern to responsible people."

"In 1967 the police department reported a total of 826 arrests and 14,475 blotter notations. In 1968 there were 882 arrests and 19,799 blotter notations. Where is the reduction in crime in those figures, Mr. Koenig?" Singer asked.

"In 1967 the fire department had a total of 497 crime calls from false alarms and incendiary activity. In 1968 the figure jumped to 609. What does your experience with figures tell you about that, Mr. Koenig?" Singer asked.

The Conservative Party platform is that law and order is of first importance to a functioning society, because responsible individuals recognize that their freedom stops at the point where it interferes with the freedom of other responsible individuals," Singer concluded.

TYRRELL: City Needs Street Safety

KINGSTON — Evaluation of safety conditions on all streets in the city will be one of the prime considerations of James J. Tyrrell if he is elected mayor on Nov. 4.

The Republican candidate in a statement today said his administration would take into consideration the problems encountered by the pedestrian, the child playing in front of his home and the operator of a motor vehicle.

Tyrrell also reiterated on remarks made Tuesday in which he charged that urban renewal under the current Democratic administration had become a "family affair."

He said today that the City of Kingston is becoming a closed corporation under the present administration. Tyrrell said the various transactions of today are setting the stage for the atmosphere that existed many years ago. This "closed corporation" atmosphere kept industry from Kingston, prevented establishment of better jobs and prevented the city from progressing at the same rate as other Mid-Hudson Valley municipalities and towns, learned that the Mayor's son part owner of Basement Realty Inc., a local firm, involved in dealings with the Kingston Urban Renewal Agency.

Tyrrell said, "the closed corporation atmosphere was brought to light when it was (Raymond Abel Garraghan), is not the only relative involved. He said Bernard Roach, an employee of Urban Renewal, responsible for informing property owners of prices approved by the Federal Government, is a relative of the Mayor. He was hired by the Urban Renewal Agency a short time ago."

The Republican candidate continued "Charles Roach, president of Basement Realty Inc. is related to Bernard Roach of Urban Renewal, who is related to the Mayor."

Tyrrell concluded, "The residents of the city have the right to know what is involved regarding these transactions. There have been other such questionable negotiations and they will be released within 48 hours."

In regard to the safety evaluation the Republican candidate pointed out some of the deterrents of safety that exist in the city presently. The Plaza road entrance on to build homes in Kingston rather than residing in another area where a better way of life can be found.

"The old city charter may have been adequate years ago when the main duty of local government was to preserve law and order but a modern charter would guide our city in the many expanded duties which we now face."

many problems that face us such as the lack of public swimming pools, one recreation center which is in poor condition, large tax bills and the inadequate library facilities. A new city charter can begin to help remedy some of the problems which we now face as the idea of reorganization offers to us the promise of a city in which he can once again be proud. The People will once again decide on to build homes in Kingston rather than residing in another area where a better way of life can be found.

"The old city charter may have been adequate years ago when the main duty of local government was to preserve law and order but a modern charter would guide our city in the many expanded duties which we now face."

constructive programs, but I would first insist that all aspects of the project be studied in its entirety and that my constituents' sentiments are heard. I will never support any idea that will only benefit the usual select few at expense of others."

Smith questioned why this new zoning was pushed through so rapidly after laying dormant for so long.

Smith said that "I wonder why my opponent (Joseph Conlin), the present alderman, did not even have the fortitude to submit the opposing petitions signed by the people of our ward before he knuckled under again to Democratic pressure."

Why didn't he at least present some logical questions on behalf of his constituents, such as, what will this cost the city; what will the cost be for water lines; is the sewer systems adequate or will this be in need of more improvements. "Also," Smith continued, "first what type of apartments will they be, garden-type or high rise?"

Concluding, the GOP hopeful stated, "I am definitely for progress in our city and I wholeheartedly support good,

Seeks New City Charter

KINGSTON — Ronald F. Woods, Urban Affairs Committee Chairman of the Ulster County Liberal Party called for a new city charter today.

Recalling that there is presently a city Charter Revision Committee "which is charged with the duty of getting our city operating under an up-to-date city constitution," Woods said the committee has not filed any period reports to the public and, "we wonder if they have progressed on the matter."

Woods continued, "Kingston certainly has a glorious historical background but the present circumstances are very undesirable and the future of our city holds very little promise. We are all familiar with the

Smith Scores Dem Opponent

KINGSTON — Brian D. Smith, Republican Conservative candidate for alderman of the Third Ward, today scored his opponent and the Common Council for their handling of the Lawton Park apartment problem.

Smith questioned why this new zoning was pushed through so rapidly after laying dormant for so long.

Why didn't he at least present some logical questions on behalf of his constituents, such as, what will this cost the city; what will the cost be for water lines; is the sewer systems adequate or will this be in need of more improvements. "Also," Smith continued, "first what type of apartments will they be, garden-type or high rise?"

Concluding, the GOP hopeful stated, "I am definitely for progress in our city and I wholeheartedly support good,

GOP Attacks Schneller on Viet Position

HURLEY — Hurley Democratic Supervisor Robert Schneller's participation in the recent Moratorium Parade "was not only ill advised and ill conceived but undoubtedly politically motivated," the Hurley Republican Committee declared today.

In a press release, the GOP committee called the supervisor's "position on the Vietnam Moratorium against our president and leader of all Americans, shocking and unpatriotic."

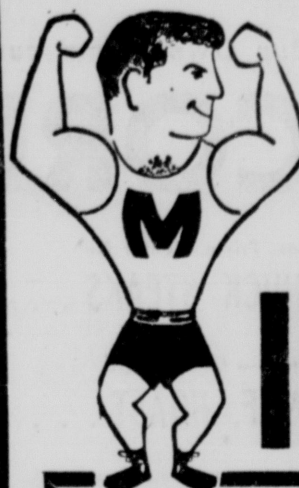

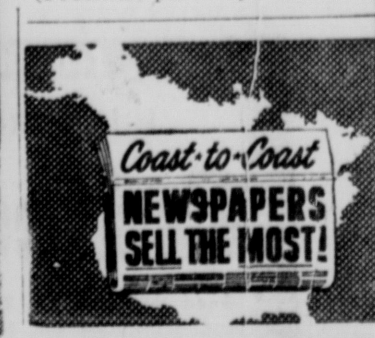

The committee said further that Schneller's position "reflects the supervisor's mixed up emotions and inability to understand the depth of the Vietnam problem."

The Republican Committee suggested that the supervisor confine his efforts to the affairs of the Town of Hurley and let the foreign policy of America be governed by the President.

Bus Shelter

BUS SHELTER — Four Town of Ulster Democrats inspect newly constructed school bus shelter at Brink's Trailer Park in Lake Katrine. The shelter was constructed by members of the Town of Ulster Democratic Social Club as a community service project. The club with volunteer labor will also provide for the maintenance of the shelter as painting and repairs are required. Inspecting the shelter Tuesday afternoon were (l-r) Joseph Roche, club president and Democratic candidate for highway superintendent; Bruce Burgher, treasurer and candidate for assessor; Robert Hayes, candidate for town justice and Walter Houle, Democratic town chairman and candidate for councilman. ### Hobbit Schedules A Folk Festival

KINGSTON
This Friday night the Hobbit plans changed entertainment from its usual billing.
This will be a Folk Festival featuring: Ralph Santenalli, Robert Lee, Ron Young, Betsy Siewers, Kevin Krajick, Harriet Hults, Steve Courtney, Andy Giacomina and Eric Miller. The folk singers will perform from 7:30 until 11:30 p.m.
Saturday night the Hobbit will present the Trance Formation from 8 until 11:30 p.m.

Heart Health

By Mid-Hudson Heart Association, Inc.

KINGSTON
Strokes are the third leading cause of death in the United States, taking 200,000 lives each year. Yet today there is new hope for stroke patients. The stroke death rate has dropped 22 per cent among middle-aged men, 45-64 years of age, and many people make a good recovery, living productive lives.

Modern stroke care can prevent invalidism and even the severely handicapped can often be taught to walk and care for themselves. This is a far cry from a recent past when stroke proved to be almost inevitably fatal.

Many people fail to realize that some strokes give warnings which doctors can often recognize. This is one reason why regular check-ups by the family doctor should be a routine that all adults should follow. The American Heart Association, joining with other health and medical groups in a nationwide effort, is attacking the problem of stroke and after-care.

Write or phone the Mid-Hudson Heart Association for the pamphlet "Facts About Strokes." The address is 72 Main Street.

Martin Relected Dairylea Head

KIAMESHA LAKE, N. Y.
(UPI)—Directors of the 14,000-member Dairylea Cooperative Inc., formerly Dairymen's League Cooperative Association, have reelected Lester Martin of Milford, N. Y., as president.

The election climaxed a week-end meeting, during which the organization's name was changed to correspond with its consumer brand in its seven-state northeastern operation.

Other top officers of the organization, founded in 1907 in Orange County, also were reelected: Eugene Vandenberg of Delancey, 1st vice president and treasurer; Russell Dennis of Fairport, 2nd vice president and assistant treasurer, and James Donnan of Galway, secretary.

Miller TACT Elects Reppert

LAKE KATRINE
Dr. Edward Reppert has been elected president of the J. Clifford Miller High School TACT organization of Teachers and Community Together.

The TACT group held its first meeting last week.

Other officers elected include: Mrs. John Gilmore, vice president; Mrs. Robert A. Winchell, secretary and Mrs. Anthony Turck, treasurer. The next meeting of TACT is scheduled for Nov. 13 at 7:30 p.m.

DeForest Installed Head of DeMolay

KINGSTON Keith W. Helmquist, standard bearer; Douglas H. Jones, orator and Mark Ohlson, scribe-treasurer. Installed as preceptors were Joseph J. Green, Michael E. O'Hara, William More, Joseph M. Gruber, Michael J. Winnie, Alexander Yosman, Robert E. Johnston, with Robert E. Stevens as sentinel.

The Speaker was the Rev. Harold Schadevall of Hurley Reformed Church. Refreshments were served by the Mother's Club. Colonial Chapter was instituted in 1924. Among earlier Master Councilors were Fred Carpenter LOH, Ward Tongue LOH, Harry Barnhart LOH, Howard Whitaker RD, and James Norton LOH.

Other officers of Colonial Chapter who were installed were: Andrew G. Giacomini, senior counselor, Dominic Pidone, junior counselor, Robert W. Terwilliger, senior deacon; David R. Miller, junior deacon; Philip E. Greer, senior steward; Larry A. Tome, junior steward; Richard A. White Jr. Chaplain; Mark I. Werbalowsky Almoner; Paul E. Terwilliger Marshal.

Swans Begin Flight

WASHINGTON (UPI) — More than 50,000 whistling swans begin their southerly flight from northern Canada the last week in October, and the Federal Aviation Administration wants pilots to look out for them. The FAA said an 18- to 25-pound swan colliding with a jetliner could trigger a tragedy. The whistling swans fly in formations up to 150 miles wide and at an altitude sometimes 10,000 feet high.

State - Mid - Hudson Partnership - Adequate Housing for Workers

MIDDLETOWN planning and implementation process. Of the $360,000 needed to finance the first phase, UDC has pledged $100,000, according to Weintraub, and Pattern for Progress and Regional Plan Association are in the process of raising the remainder from business and other private sources, both within and outside the Mid-Hudson. The region's share in this first stage effort will be $50,000.

The first stage effort, too, "will largely determine the success of the main part of the program which is to follow," Weintraub said. "If during this initial period, we can create the necessary conditions for a vital and growing program, then we will already have established the case for continued investment."

Weintraub continued: "But now to bring all this closer to home: What does this program mean in terms of the immediate and long-range development of the counties served by your library system?"

That is, the counties of Orange, Sullivan, Ulster in particular, since Rockland is outside the immediate scope of this program.

The program, he said, can offer communities important assistance in preparing to meet the challenges of new population growth and development, expected to come mainly from the greater New York Metropolitan area, and to be facilitated by the completion of Interstate Route 84.

"In such a dynamic situation," Weintraub said, "there is always the likelihood that many parts of the southwestern portion of the Mid-Hudson could be bypassed in new industrial development unless the necessary preconditions are established for it — housing being a major one."

"As you are all aware, the availability of skilled labor is a determining factor as to whether an industry decides to expand or locate new facilities in an area. And the availability of labor is largely determined by the housing supply — whether a worker can find a decent home for himself and his family that he can afford."

Paltz Prof Cited by NASA

NEW PALTZ Dr. Gerald A. Kitzman, assistant professor of biophysics, State University College, New Paltz, has been awarded a certificate of recognition by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration for his space research and advanced study this summer at Ames Research Center and Stanford University, Calif.

In NASA's Fellowship program for PhD's Dr. Kitzman completed courses at Stanford in biomedical engineering, aerospace technology and dynamic modeling of biological systems.

For his research at Ames' Experimental Pathology Department, the New Paltz biophysicist completed a study on "Theoretical Aspects of Biomagnetism." A second paper on "Magnetic Mating Effect in Drosophila Melanogaster," has been published by the Department of Aeronautics and Astronautics, as part of the final report of the Summer Institute, which was sponsored by NASA, the American Society for Engineering Education, at Stanford.

Dr. Kitzman's dissertation for his PhD, earned at New York University, also was in the field of biomagnetism.

Traditional Tea Planned

ANNUAL DONATION DAY AND TEA at the Home for the Aged, 80 Washington Avenue, Kingston, will take place Thursday from 1 to 4 p. m. There will be a variety of booths featuring handmade articles, Christmas decorations, home baked foods, flowers and plants. The public is invited. (Hoderath photo).

HOME BAKED GOODS will be among the many items available Thursday at the annual donation day and tea at Home for the Aged, 80 Washington Avenue, Kingston. This event is the only fund raising project held during the year at the Home. Proceeds go towards the Good Cheer Fund which provides little comforts and enjoyments for residents at the Home. (Hoderath photo).

Dinner Dance Set For This Friday

The Rondout Valley Scholarship Fund, Inc. will hold its single largest fund-raising event of the year this Friday when the Fund's third annual dinner-dance will take place at the Ukrainian National Association in Kerhonkson. A cocktail hour at 7 will precede dinner, dancing and entertainment, according to the chairman, Town of Rochester Supervisor Franklin Kelder.

More than a dozen highly-qualified graduates of Rondout Valley Central High School have been aided in furthering their education through the efforts of the Fund, which has presented a number of scholarships since 1965. Dependent entirely upon the generosity and interest of area organizations and individuals, the Fund is the sole local agency which tangibly recognizes the achievements of Rondout Valley High School students.

"Attendance at the Dinner-Dance will give residents of our school community the opportunity to share in the satisfaction of materially helping our young people," Chairman Kelder said. "At the same time, we can promise them a truly enjoyable evening."

Assisting Kelder in planning this year's function have been Mrs. Charles Denkensohn, Mrs. Al Emmerling, Philip Davis, and Superintendent of Schools Robert A. Robertaccio.

Daniel Leahy Will Be Guest Speaker

Daniel Leahy, director of the Ulster County Association for Retarded Children, will be the guest speaker at the October 28th meeting of the Women's Guild for Christian Service of the Hurley Reformed Church. The 8 p.m. meeting will be held in the Fellowship Hall and all Hurley women are invited.

Mr. Leahy will show the film, "Introducing the Mentally Retarded" and share his knowledge of the subject in an informal question and answer period. Mrs. Donald Briggs, chairman, will lead the business meeting of the Evening Circle, at which time additional plans will be discussed for the annual Christmas bazaar and luncheon which will be held on Saturday, Dec. 6. Mrs. James Shelhorse is refreshment chairman for the October 28 meeting.

In this month of Community Chest emphasis, the Hurley Guild plans to explore more deeply this one Chest member. The Association for Retarded Children. The Guild women are especially interested in its work as one of the 400 children served by the Association is a member of the Hurley Sunday School and her parents are active members of the Church, Guild and Choir. Her mother is presently treasurer of the Association.

During the summer there is an Association for Retarded Children camp program both in Kingston and Ellenville. During the school year three classes are held. In Kingston there is a nursery program for two to five-year-olds with 10 members and a group for 11 children, age five and over, who are not yet ready for public school. In Ellenville 12 children meet who have a variety of problems, including cultural deprivation.

Solicitous care is provided to 190 hospitalized persons in addition to the children living at home throughout Ulster County.

Guests are always welcome to attend meetings of the Hurley Women's Guild. However, in November there will be no meeting because of the holiday and members are urged to attend the Thanksgiving Eve Church Service instead.

Hints from Heloise

Dear Heloise:

I had one of those contour shag bathroom rugs that fit around the bottom of the basin. Well, it shrank when washed. What to do?

I cut the two "ears" off evenly across the top of the rug, whipstitched these together around the curved edges with heavy button-hole thread and presto, a super-duper car washing mitt for my husband!

The rest of the rug, now with a straight edge at the top, fits nicely in front of the wash basin, and everyone thinks it was made for that space originally.

How's that for killing two birds with one stone?

Sewing Susie

Letter of Thanks

Dear Heloise:

It isn't easy to think of gifts for elderly people, but I came up with one recently that may interest you.

I know a darling lady in her 80s who has managed for many years with only "uppers." She has a marvelous sense of humor and whenever we asked her what she wanted for her birthday, Christmas or Mother's Day, she always said, "a box of peanut brittle." She knew she would never eat peanut brittle again nor, I suppose, can many people even with a full set of dentures.

Anyway, I got the bright idea of grinding a pound of peanut brittle in my food chopper to a fine granulated stage. Then I put it into a pretty candy jar and tied a bright-colored ribbon to it.

The attached card read: "Hope You'll Like This More Than A Little — It's What You Wanted — Peanut Brittle."

Well! She was so pleased, Heloise. Whenever she got candy hungry, she would eat a spoonful and enjoy that remembered taste of peanuts and browned sugar.

Ellen Olsen

Yummy! You've got my appetite all whetted up for that very same taste . . . none better!

Heloise

Dear Heloise:

I hang a lightweight blanket on a hanger in my closet, so whenever I need it during the night it's easy to get to.

I keep a cleaning bag over it to prevent blanket lint from getting on my clothing.

This idea sure has saved me a lot of getting up and down at night to search for a blanket in the linen closet.

The Crystal Room of the Governor Clinton Hotel was filled to capacity Tuesday afternoon for the Kingston Daily Freeman's second annual tea for club presidents and publicity chairmen.

Principal speaker for the occasion was Mrs. Dexter O. Arnold, member of the Advisory Council on the Status of Women. In her address, Mrs. Arnold stressed the importance and influence of women in today's contemporary world.

Mrs. Mary E. Tobin, deputy commissioner of the Woman's Program, New York State Department of Commerce, extended greetings from Deputy Commissioner Guin Hall and applauded women's achievements in Ulster County.

In his welcoming address, Richard L. Treat, general manager and vice president of the Kingston Daily Freeman, outlined the growth of the newspaper. "By using the nationally accepted figure of 3.5 readers per family, we now average some 77,700 readers per day," he said.

Mr. Treat also outlined the newspaper's expanded news coverage, its increased number of full time employees, and extended an invitation to clubs to visit the plant.

"Our reasons for holding this social in the early Fall is two-fold. One to salute the many women's organizations which do so much for our community and, second, to get acquainted with your newly elected presidents and publicity chairmen," Mr. Treat said.

Other Freeman personnel included Warren Simmons, business manager; Robert Sachlof, advertising manager; Joan Huber, Betty Radell, Diane Norton.

Among those clubs represented at the tea were: Musical Society of Kingston; Eastern Star, Clinton Chapter 445; Sisterhood Ahavath Israel; Kingston Women's Bowling Association; Tongore Garden Club; UCCC Faculty Wives Club; YWCA B & P Club; Ulster County Business and Professional Women's Club; Hillside Acres Garden Club; Ladies Auxiliary; Lake Katrine Rod and Gun Club; Saugerties Jaycees.

Advice to All New Drivers: Please Note Safety Procedures

By VIVIAN BROWN

AP Newsfeatures Writer

Cars and bicycles are back to school in increasing numbers and it is a worrisome situation to many parents.

The automobile accident rate is climbing and authorities are concerned. For example, in New York, the State Commissioner of Motor Vehicles blames part of the increase in accidents involving teen-agers on the fact that more and more parents are buying cars for their children. He doesn't think teen-agers should own their own cars. In his opinion, parents should have control over automobiles driven by teen-agers.

Many auto accidents happen at night. Kids cut up at a party and find it is hard to slow down the mood. But there are plenty of daytime accidents, too. On the way home from school, an open road might look very inviting for a peel-out. A young person steps on the gas pedal with a school's-out feeling of exhilaration, and he may wind up in the hospital or the morgue.

Studies made by investigators at Cornell University prove that seat belts save lives, reports the National Safety Council. It estimates that 8,000 to 10,000 lives would be saved each year if motorists used the seat belts. Yet among some young crowds, the "in" thing is to avoid fastening the seat belt. One high school girl's companion accused her of suspecting he was a bad driver because she fastened the belt.

Many young people have had little driving experience when they get their licenses. Some of them have never attended a driver's school.

These new youthful drivers may benefit from these safety tips passed on by the National Safety Council:

When passing another car, remember that it is moving too. Don't cut in front of it until you can see its headlights in your rear-view mirror.

You should be concerned about the car ahead, the one behind, the one approaching on the opposite lane, the one ready to enter from a side street, and the one parked at the curb. One should drive in such a way that there is time to make the right decision.

Don't forget to signal for a turn. When changing lanes make sure a car is not cruising along in your blind spot. Some emergencies to spot include: jaywalking pedestrians, children hidden by parked cars, cyclists, animals. Don't depend on the other person to know the safety rules.

Lack of experience can lead to errors in judgment, warns the council. It recommends that young people take driver-education courses to aid in developing judgement and the sense of responsibility necessary to safe driving. Studies indicate that young people who have had formal driver education have fewer traffic accidents and violations.

Bicycles are more popular than ever, but many accidents are caused by carelessness. Last year, seven million new bikes hit the road, and the industry is constantly distributing safety material.

Here's what the Bicycle Institute of America suggests for safety:

Obey traffic regulations, signs, lights. Keep to the right; ride in a straight line, single file. A white light should be in front, a red one in back. A horn, bell or other working warning device should be used. Give pedestrians the right of way. Avoid sidewalk riding. Watch for doors opening on parked cars. Never hitch on other vehicles or race in traffic. Do not carry a passenger or object that interferes with your vision. Make sure your brakes are functioning smoothly. Keep your bike in perfect operating condition. Look to the right and left at intersections. Use proper hand signals for turning or stopping. Don't weave in and out of traffic or swerve from side to side.

Recently Attended Library Workshop

Robert Daley, Mrs. Edgar Meurs, and Mrs. Seymour Semilof, members of the Board of Trustees of the Hurley Library Association, attended a Conference-Workshop for the trustees of community libraries belonging to the Mid-Hudson Library Association which was held on Oct. 14 in the Mid-Hudson Libraries Auditorium in Poughkeepsie.

Approximately 20 member libraries belonging to the Mid-Hudson group participated in round-table discussions led by Patrick Sweeney, director of public relations for the Mid-Hudson Library Association. The purpose of the sessions were to educate trustees and librarians to better serve their local libraries. Major topics discussed were improving public relations, the impact of the library on a local community, and the successful acquisition of funds for the local library.

Knicks Doing Their Thing

By United Press International
Red Holzman won't allow the "New York mystique" to bug his Knicks.
Off to their greatest pro start, the undefeated Knicks routed the Phoenix Suns, 140-116, Tuesday night for their fifth consecutive victory. A 28-point effort by Walt Frazier and Willis Reed's 23 points settled the issue.

"So the Jets won the Super Bowl and the Mets won the World Series," Holzman says. "That doesn't mean the Knicks are going to win the National Basketball Association title."

"We're playing our games one at a time and not searching for precedents."

The Knicks, of course, were part of that New York mystique that befuddled Baltimore pro teams. After the Jets knocked off the Colts in football, the Knicks eliminated the Bullets in the NBA's Eastern Division playoffs. Everybody knows what happened to the Orioles in baseball.

Detroit won its first game of the season when Jimmy Walker's pair of foul shots with seven seconds left beat Boston. Walker and Dave Bing each scored 16 points for the winning Pistons. Emmett Bryant had a high of 17 for the Celtics.

THE REACH — Dave DeBusschere (L) of the New York Knickerbockers reaches high and wide to try and block a shot by Connie Hawkins of the Phoenix Suns in game at Madison Square Tuesday night. Knicks won, 140-116, for 5th straight. (UPI TELEPHOTO).

Paterno's Rebuttal: Sorry About Ben

By United Press International
Penn State football coach Joe Paterno says he's disappointed by criticisms from Ben Schwartzwalder of officiating at Saturday's 15-14 loss by Syracuse, but he shouldn't be surprised.
The Orange coach raised the same cry eight years ago, when Notre Dame beat Syracuse 17-15 in South Bend on a field goal that was kicked after the game was over.

In that game, Syracuse was penalized after the clock had stopped as end Walt Sweeney, now an all-league guard for the San Diego Chargers, roughed Notre Dame fullback and kicker Joe Perkowski. Perkowski's second try from closer range went between the uprights, providing the Irish with the winning score.

Paterno made his remark Tuesday at University Park, Pa., after Schwartzwalder had told the New York Football Writers' weekly meeting that his players "have a lot of questions" about officiating in the Saturday game. The veteran Syracuse coach said he would hand over game films to the Eastern College Athletic Conference (ECAC).

"I'm only presenting the questions of the players to show them the old coach cares," Schwartzwalder said. "It's just possible they have a grievance and they'll be happy if somebody impartial looks at the films."
Paterno replied with the following statement:
"I'm disappointed that Ben Schwartzwalder, after all these outstanding years as a coach, would belittle by his accusations the tremendous effort on the part of his team last Saturday. Syracuse played a great football game. It's disappointing that a leading member of our coaching profession would resort to this sort of thing after a great game between two outstanding teams made up of fine young men."

Morton Tops On 70.4 PA

NEW YORK (UPI)—Dallas quarterback Craig Morton, who threw five touchdown passes against the Philadelphia Eagles last Sunday despite a sore shoulder, continues to set the pace among National Football League passers this season.

CRAIG MORTON

Morton has completed 50 of 71 attempts for a 70.4 percentage in helping the Cowboys to a 5-0 record. His passes have gone for 869 yards and 10 touchdowns, an average gain of 12.24 yards per completion, and he has not been intercepted.
Sonny Jurgensen of the Washington Redskins is second and Bart Starr of the Green Bay Packers third in passing effectiveness, according to the official statistics released Tuesday by the league.

Calvin Hill, who does most of the Dallas running when Morton isn't throwing the ball, maintained his rushing lead with a total of 412 yards. Hill has carried the ball 80 times for a 5.2 average and three touchdowns.
Larry Brown of the Washington Redskins is second with 344 yards and Ron Johnson of the Cleveland Browns is third with 300.

BOICEVILLE
Rex Kinary, Pete Fredkin and Dan Moser finished one-two-three as the Sawyers of Saugerties High school downed Ontario High School's harriers, 16-39, in the last cross country meet of the season for the winners.

The meet was run over the Indian's two-mile course in Boiceville. Saugerties posts a 5-4 record for the season and will compete in the Dutchess County Scholastic League meet Friday, 4 p. m. at Arlington High School in Freedom Plains.

Kinary hit the tape in 10:25, with Fredkin crossing at 10:32, and Moser at 10:34. Bill Benham finished fourth for Saugerties in 10:50 as the first three runners crossing the tape iced the win for Coach Bud Smith's squad.

John Stay was the first to finish for the host squad, coming in fifth in 10:51.

Cadet Squad at Peak For Contest With BC

WEST POINT — Army coach defeated last Saturday by Villanova. Tom Cahill didn't quite know what to expect when he arrived at his office each morning last week. His starting lineups, on both the offensive and defensive units, were changing daily, thanks to an assortment of practice injuries and a flu bug which had hit the Corps of Cadets over the previous weekend.

Now, one week later, the pendulum has swung around a full 180 degrees, and for the first time in several days coach Cahill has his squad intact. "Just in the nick of time, too," says the coach, "what with the second half of the season staring us right in the eyes. We're running out of time and need every man healthy," he adds.

The Cadets, who have now dropped three straight and are under the .500 level with a 2-3 record, hope to rebound this Saturday when they play host to Boston College before sellout crowd of over 41,000 at Michie Stadium. # What should you ask of a bottle of whiskey?

We think you ought to ask for your money's worth. And to us that means three things.
Taste that suits you. Drinks you can be proud to serve to your friends.
And quality that never varies. Bottle to bottle. Year to year.
Maybe you've already found all this in one bottle. But if you have your doubts remember this: Seagram's 7 Crown has been the best-liked brand of whiskey in the nation for a long time now.
Last year alone people preferred it to the next two best-sellers combined.
We haven't built that kind of success by giving you less than the best.

Name Davis Coach Y Swimming Team

KINGSTON, N.Y. — Burton Davis of Woodstock has been chosen as chairman of the Y's Swim Team Parents Council, which will work with the coaches and YMCA staff to help every youngster get the best possible swimming experience. The council, under Mrs. Arnold's leadership, will give valuable service as timers, judges, clerks, record keepers, drivers and in many other areas which help make a competitive swimming program possible. The Y has joined the 11-team Mid-Hudson Swimming League which also includes Wiltwyck Country Club.

Other teams in the league are: Regina Coeli of Hyde Park; Poughkeepsie YWCA, St. Mary's of Poughkeepsie; Holy Trinity, St. Columba, Millbrook Community Center, Poughkeepsie Jewish Community Center, St. Mary's of Wappingers Falls, St. Mary's, Poughkeepsie.

Seaver and Bench All-Star Leaders

NEW YORK (AP) — Johnny Bench of the Cincinnati Reds and Tom Seaver of New York's world champion Mets head The Associated Press' all-star major league baseball team announced today.

The 21-year-old Bench, who hit .293 with 20 homers and 90 runs batted in in his second full season in the majors, was the top vote-getter, attracting 264 in the nation-wide balloting by 283 sports writers and broadcasters. Seaver, the smooth right-hander whose 25-7 record was the best in the majors and whose exuberance and zest played a big role in the Mets miracle, was next with 237 votes.

He was the only member of the world champions to make either the first or second team.

In fact, Cincinnati was the only team to land two players on the first team—outfielder Pete Rose, who led the National League with a .348 average, was the Reds' other representative.

Others on the first team were Willie McCovey of the San Francisco Giants at first, Rod Carew of Minnesota at second, Rico Petrocelli of Boston at shortstop, Ron Santo of the Chicago Cubs at third, outfielders Hank Aaron of Atlanta and Frank Howard of Washington and left-handed pitcher Mike Cuellar of Baltimore's American League champs.

Bench was an overwhelming choice as catcher. The young slugger's nearest rival, Bill Freehan of Detroit, drew only eight votes.

Seaver similarly was a solid choice as the right-handed pitcher, drawing 211 votes more than runner-up Denny McLain of Detroit, the 31-game winner of 1968 who was 24-9 last season.

Carew, who led the American League with a .322 average, beat out Glenn Beckert of the Cubs as the second baseman, 217 votes to 42.

Petrocelli, who hit .297 with 40 homers and 96 RBI, also had a comfortable margin over another Cub, Don Kessinger, at shortstop, 234 votes to 40.

Aaron, who helped the Braves to the NL West title with a .299 average, 44 homers and 96 RBI, led the outfield balloting with 224.

Rose was next with 186 while Howard, who had his greatest year with 48 homers, 111 RBI and a .296 average, had 112.

The three runners-up were Frank Robinson of Baltimore (.308), Roberto Clemente of Pittsburgh (.345) and Reggie Jackson of Oakland (.276), who led the AL in homers much of the season before being sidelined late in the campaign and finishing with 47.

Jackson edged out Cleon Jones of the Mets for final outfield spot on the second team by just three votes.

Because of some vote splitting, Harmon Killebrew of Minnesota wound up as both the

Pilots Get Reprieve From President Cronin

CHICAGO (AP) — The city of Seattle has been given a little more than a week to meet a three-point ultimatum or face the possibility of losing the Pilots' American League baseball franchise.

The matter came to a head Tuesday when the American League held an informal session following a joint meeting of the National and American Leagues concerning schedules and players' problems.

Binding the situation was Cronin's acknowledgement that the American League will meet again in Chicago Oct. 29 ostensibly to study the 1970 schedule.

However, it was learned that the meeting will be held to find out if Seattle will abide by the three-point ultimatum which is:

1. Sicks' Stadium, temporary home of the Pilots, must be enlarged from 22,500 seats to 28,000 by the start of the 1970 season.

2. Plans must be completed for breaking ground for a $40 million domed stadium by Dec. 31, 1970, and the structure must be ready for opening day of the 1973 season.

3. There must be evidence of enough Seattle financial interest so that Cleveland investor William Daley, who owns more than 50 per cent of the club, can get out and give the Pilots local ownership.

Cronin and six owners met Monday night to hear the plea of a Seattle delegation bent on keeping the club in the Pacific Northwest.

Both the American and National Leagues met jointly Tuesday to hear progress reports on 41 requests from the Player's Association after which Cronin and all American League owners or their representatives convened to discuss the Seattle situation.

Following that meeting, Cronin said he was optimistic that Seattle would meet the requirements to remain in the American League.

All three Fish and Wildlife Regions in the Northern Zone—Regions 4, 5 and 6—report that foliage is either down or dropping quickly, this permitting good visibility. Deer herds are generally in good to excellent condition.

Another plus that hunters will find is greatly improved mast production, that is beech nuts, acorns and wild berries. Deer and bear, in common with other species of wildlife, normally utilize this very nutritious food supply to build up a healthy layer of fat to buffer them against the rigors of winter.

Skilled big game hunters attempt to intercept big game animals on their way to and from these choice feeding locations.

Missed Record
Last season's mast crop, it will be recalled, was extremely poor not only in New York State but throughout the east generally. Despite this mast failure, big game hunters in 1968 tallied their third successive statewide record deer take—91,993—and another record buck take of 53,957.

Adirondack hunters downed 20,257 deer, missing their 1967 record of 20,677 by less than two per cent. The buck take in the Northern Zone was also outstanding at 10,751, the fifth highest on record.

The bear take was about average—387—compared to the long-term average for the region of 390. Poor mast conditions and an early winter may have kept the take down by causing the bears to den up early.

Big First Weekend
This theory is partly supported by an unusually high proportion of Adirondack take occurring during the first few days of the season which opened on a Friday. Fifty-five per cent of the bears felled were taken during the first weekend of the 1968 season.

This season's bear prospects, however, are unclear. Although there were numerous reports of bears in the dumps and a number of bear complaints during the vacation season, the early bear season which ran between Oct. 1-15 did not seem to be very productive, judging by early reports to the Conservation Department. Hunting pressure was described as "light" by Conservation Officers in the field.

Sayers Mystery: Where Are the Long Runs?

NEW YORK (NEA)—In the fall sunshine, Gale Sayers and his long, slanting shadow waited near the goal posts for the kick-off in the last minute of play and the Chicago Bears were trailing by a few points. In the stands above, the crowd in amber and saffron shimmered from the sunshine like an Impressionist painting of fall trees changing colors, and tingled in anticipation mixed with fear and hope.

The setting was at once humble and grand. Humble in that it was nothing more than a game in which someone now wanted to catch a ball and run with it, and in which others wanted to prevent him from doing just that. In this respect, the circumstances were no different from similar fall days with kids playing choose-up games in parks and in streets throughout America.

But it was grand, too, because there were people with a transistor radio appended to their ears and binoculars stuck in their eyes and a throb bouncing in their hearts. These are people who for now have lost interest in everything else, their disenchantments, their personal flops, their worries about battling the traffic jam after the game, to absorb themselves in this moment of vicarious concern.

Will Gale Sayers run the kick-off back for a touchdown? Will the Bears pull the game out? Will Gale Sayers be stopped, thus preserving victory for the other team?

It was grand, too, because of the mere fact that Sayers could be standing out there at all, entirely capable of running that ball back 100 yards, darting and spinning through 11 menacing fellows bent on mowing him down.

Sayers tore ligaments in his right knee last fall and after an operation sweated through the winter and spring and summer doing exercises day and night out of sheer pride and dedication to return to what he once was, a man who could on a fall day run a ball back better than anyone has ever been able to do. It is uncommon for a football player, after so severe an injury, to come back to "his former self." But it seems Sayers has. After three regular season NFL games, he has not broken away for those stupendous, bal-letic long jaunts, but he has been effective nonetheless. At this time last season, he was first in the league in rushing. Now he is struggling to stay in the top 10 (which really isn't so awful, either).

"And that's not Gale's fault," said George Seals, the mammoth offensive guard who blocks for Sayers. "I've been missing blocks, Mike Pyle's been missing blocks, the backs have been missing blocks."

"I don't care who you are," said Bear quarterback Virgil Carter, "you need some day light. Gale hasn't seen any so far."

"Sayers may have lost something," said linebacker Ralph Heck of the Giants, "but I don't know where. He still hits those holes and cuts back."

"He may even be a stronger runner than before," said Giant defensive back Spider Lockhart. "You'd think a runner like him was just elusive, but he's powerful. You hit him and you hurt."

"He can still break a game open."

And, of course, he has many times, especially with kickoff returns, as when he ran one back 103 yards against Pittsburgh in 1967, and 97 yards against Detroit and 97 again against San Francisco in the same year, and 96 yards against Minnesota in 1965 and 93 yards against Los Angeles and 90 yards against Minnesota in 1966.

So Gale Sayers and his long shadow waited on the sharp, green turf amid the shimmering, sunshiny, amber and saffron fall crowd. The ball soared high into the sun and came down in the end zone and Sayers did not try to run it back because even he would have been trampled by the stampeding defenders.

Some fans sighed, and some grieved. It was a fleeting moment, but a fine one. One of the reasons that fall crowd paid their money, and one of the reasons Gale Sayers suffered last winter and spring and summer with weights and whirlpools and knee exercises and dreams of fall days when he would be standing near the goal post with the smells and colors of fall and an oval leather ball descending toward him from out of the sun.

KINGSTON—Marion Sanford of Saugerties is making a serious pitch for one of the highest honors ever achieved by an area woman bowler—a 190 average.

It hasn't happened since the Golden Era of Rose Schatzel in the mid-1950s. Mrs. Schatzel, the all-time No. 1 woman bowler in area history, reached the rarified 190 plateau three times in her distinguished career. She had an all-time high of 198 and other marks of 194 and 196.

No other woman has ever come close over a full season. Now, Mrs. Sanford, a poised and polished veteran, is making her bid.

With scores of 637, 624, 598 and 596 (all in the Top Ten) to her credit, Marion is mighty close to 190 in the Sangi's Women's Classic and boasts 183 in Ferraro's Women's Invitational. The 637-624 just happen to be No. 1 and No. 2 series of the current season.

Does Marion think she can complete the season at a 190 clip?

"I don't know what's happening," she says, "but I sure hope it keeps up." If it does, she will, in fact become the second woman ever to average 190 in Kingston area history.

Conventional Style
Marion's approach to the game is conventional in every detail. She eschews fancy grips. "I use a standard Western grip," she says. "I guess you could call my ball a full roller with a slight break on the end."

About three years ago she hit a slump and toyed with the idea of making some changes but the experiment was short lived.

"I am using the same ball Johnny Ferraro drilled for me about 16 years ago," she adds. "I tried a lighter ball three years ago, but it didn't work and I went back to the full 16-pounder. I am very happy with it."

With her scores, why shouldn't she.

Career First 600

Cora Martin's career first 600, a 607 in the Early Birds league, happened while she was thinking about something else.

"After starting with 150 and 210, I was thinking more about getting the 140 I needed to reach 500 and get my name in the paper," said Mrs. Martin, a monitor at School No. 5.

"I didn't even know I had a chance at 600 and I tried to stay away from the score sheet," she added. She picked off two pins from a 3-pin cluster for a break in the 10th frame of her third game but even with that she had amassed a 247—highest woman's solo of the season—and 607, fourth highest of the campaign.

A seven-year veteran, Mrs. Martin modestly admits she uses a conventional grip and throws "an old fashioned back-up." The 247 and 607 were, of course, career highs. Her previous top scores were 233 and 595. She rolls in two leagues—Early Birds (143 average) and Ferraro Women's Invitational (152).

Former Californian
Six hundred triples are nothing new to Mrs. Pat Van Gaasbeck of High Falls, who is decorating the local bowling scene for the second year.

"I've had a half dozen of them," she said, after rolling 601 in the Women's Invitational. The first came in 1963 in San Francisco and was her career high of 633.

She rolled four others at military installations in the east. Her husband, William F. Van Gaasbeck, is a retired colonel now employed at Verifab.

Mrs. Van Gaasbeck's career goes back 18 years. "I was a member of the first AJBC unit, in San Francisco," she recalls.

She is currently averaging 176 in the Saugerties Bowlers Club women's classic and 172 in the Women's Invitational. Her career high solo is 256.

How did she compare women's bowling in Kingston with that in California?

"Well," she mused, "I've been bowling from coast to coast and have yet to find a pair of lanes that run alike." How true, Mrs. Van Gaasbeck!

Six hundreds are old hat to Mrs. Ann Manfro, who has hit 609 and The Freeman was unable to contact Mary Duchaine, who posted 600 on the nose. But we will.

GOOD GUARANTEE. You probably won't need it, but what's good about it.

IFETIME GUARANTEE

New Mobil Passenger Tires are guaranteed against defects in workmanship and material for the life of the original tread. They are also guaranteed against normal road hazards such as blowouts, fabric breaks and cuts which result in tread wear gauge.

If examination shows the tire has failed under the terms of this guarantee, we will make a reasonable allowance on the purchase of a new tire based on Mobil's current predetermined price for adjustment, plus applicable taxes. Allowance will be based on remaining tread wear as determined by tread wear gauge.

This guarantee does not cover consequential damages, nor damages from running flat or from wheel misalignment, nor the cost of repairing punctures, nor tires marked "Second." Liability is limited to replacement of the Mobil tire.

Dear Abby

Must Cut Off Hang-ups

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
(© 1969 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: I read the letter in your column from the woman who did not find any physical satisfaction in her marriage. That has been my problem for 23 years.

I talked with two doctors. One told me that I was expecting too much and had been reading too many love stories. The other (a woman doctor) told me that very few women had it any better — they just "pretended" most of their lives.

My man is one of the loving kind, but I have been "pretending" all my married life. Is there no hope for me?

DEAR NAMELESS: The first doctor was off base, but the second doctor (if statistics can be believed) was not. You need to see a third doctor — one who specializes in unlocking doors of minds where "hangups" have been stored. This may be an oversimplification, but the reason most women are unable to enjoy marital relations is because as young girls they've been told that sex is a "no on." And so is... forever.

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of the "no-bra" look?

DEAR JUST: It's a good way for some women to get everything off their chest. For others, it's a flop.

DEAR ABBY: You say a lot in your column about "adopting kids." How about a word about the "unadoptable?" After having two of our own we adopted three. These are children of mixed blood, the last ones to be adopted if they ever are.

Thirteen years ago we were warned that we were headed for heartbreak when we adopted the product of a Filipino barmaid and an American GI. She was sick, half starved, and not a very pretty child when we took her. The Red Cross and the military doctor where we were stationed told us she might turn out to be mentally retarded. But we adopted her anyway.

A year after we returned to the states we adopted another little girl. She was half Negro. The next year we adopted a Mexican boy one year old.

Our half Filipino daughter is now 16. She is a very good student and a raving beauty. Her half Negro sister leads her class in straight A's and in a few years she will be as beautiful as the older girl. The boy is an average student, affectionate and outgoing.

Abby, please ask your readers who are thinking of adoption to consider these "unadoptable" children. I promise them happiness, not heartbreak.

Sincerely,
M. B. PORTLAND, ORE.

CONFIDENTIAL TO M.M.S.: To set the record straight, I said, "Ideally, sex education should be taught in the home, but since it obviously is not, the next best place is in the public schools, by responsible teachers."

Too many mothers were raised to believe that sex is "dirty," and the subject should never be mentioned in front of the children. And should a little girl ask any questions about sex, she was told, "You're too young to know" — or, nice girls don't talk about such things. And later should this little girl grow up and try to find the answers to her questions by experimenting, and wind up pregnant, this same mother will wring her hands and say, "What have I done to deserve this! I gave her everything!" (These, by the way, are the same women who wonder why their husbands have a girl friend.)

Everybody has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069, and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope. Hate to write letters? Send $1 to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069, for Abby's booklet, "How to Write Letters for All Occasions." (Hear Dear Abby Mon. thru Sat. at 10:24 a.m. WKY-1490)

Horoscope

By SIDNEY OMARR

It's In The Stars

("The wise man controls his destiny . . . astrology points the way.")

FORECAST FOR THURSDAY, OCTOBER 23, 1969

ARIS: (March 21-April 19): Take initiative. Publicity due. Sudden decisions seem to affect partnership, marital status. No day to be a shrinking violet. Speak up; be aggressive. Your timing is on the nose.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Many who perform basic services may not be available. You will have to improvise. Be self-sufficient. Get house in order. The cleanup job will be up to you. Act accordingly.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Friendship, romance, quick decisions are featured. Your kind of day. Nothing seems dull. Glow of excitement dominates. Accent on fulfillment of deep desires.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Change indicated where career is concerned. Direction in which you were headed is marked by detour. Weight of family financial pressure is on you. Ride with the tide.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Nothing really can be accomplished until present task is completed. Know this: get ready for final thrust. Accent on writing, spreading thoughts, views. Break through wall of red tape.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Take care with valuables. Some today are anxious to part you from your money. Heed your own counsel. Many seem determined that you don't know your own mind. Prove them wrong.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 - Oct. 22): A relationship could become permanent. This is no time to play games. What you say, do are taken with utter seriousness — especially in relations with opposite sex.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Previously subdued areas come to life. Means expect the unexpected. Some individuals who were quiet make provocative assertions. Sense of humor proves great ally.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Friends, social activity, expression of talents — these are emphasized. Study GEMINI message. This is day of activity — and satisfaction. Be ready for change and variety.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Some who have positions of authority make sudden moves, changes. Be ready. Give full play to intellectual curiosity. If you ask questions, answers can be obtained.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Accent on movement, change and travel. Relatives are on the move and could pay to visit. Some of your own plans are upset. Status quo is shaken. Be familiar with facts.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): You find that some who appear shy are just the opposite. There are surprises. You may find that beliefs are changed. Be a creative thinker. Avoid tendency to be obstinate.

IF TODAY IS YOUR BIRTHDAY you are dynamic, a natural reporter-writer. You go after facts and are capable to intelligently utilizing them. A domestic adjustment, change of residence may be on horizon.

Jean Adams' TEEN FORUM

JEFF'S GIRLS: (Q.) Linda and I are both pregnant. She wants Jeff to marry her and I want him to marry me. Linda's baby doesn't even belong to Jeff. She is popular and can marry any boy she wants to. I don't have anybody but Jeff.

Jeff thinks both our babies are his. He says he can't marry both of us. He went with me three months, then with Linda two months, then came back to me. He's 19 and I love him. I'm 17. What can I do?—Crying in Connecticut.

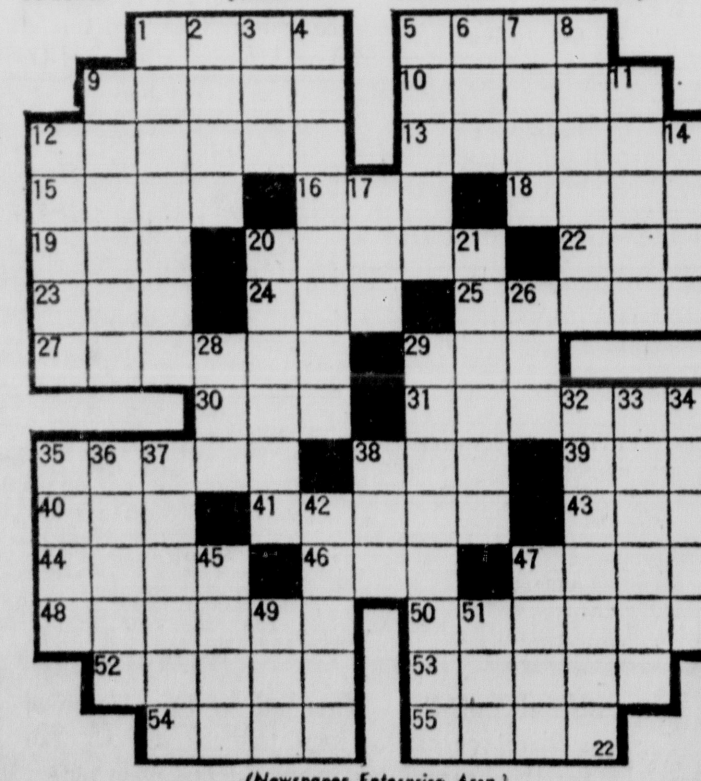

(A.) You have no way of knowing who is the father of Linda's baby, so do not assume it isn't Jeff's. And do not marry Jeff. He is not responsible and would not make you a good husband, no matter how much you love him.

Have your baby and put it up for adoption. It might be better to go to a girl's home for this than to stay at home. SOFT COLORS: (Q.) I'm a fashion romantic. I love soft colors, pale shades, lace and ruffles. Are soft shades and ruffles suitable for school and for winter? And are they in style? I'm in junior high and don't want to look out of it.

I do most of my own sewing.—Ray in Detroit. (A.) Pale hues and ruffles are very feminine, and in fashion, too. For school you need, however, to pick ruffled styles that aren't too fussy. And be sure you get fabrics that are warm enough. (Want personal answers to your questions? Write to Jean Adams, Box 2402, Houston, Texas 77001. Be sure to enclose a stamped self-addressed envelope.)

On TV Programs and Ratings

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Notes to watch television by:

The Programs: "A Man and a Woman," the heralded film with Anouk Aimee, is ABC-TV's Wednesday night movie Nov. 5. ... Same network offers another notable motion picture, "Georgy Girl," with Lynn Redgrave, as its Oct. 29 Wednesday film. ... Frank Sinatra Jr.'s Sunday night CBS-TV musical hour showed the young singer is coming along nicely as a performer.

The ratings: ABC-TV's "Room 222," about a Negro history teacher in a high school, seems to be a strong new hit. But Leslie Uggams' new CBS-TV musical series has fallen off sharply in the numbers race. The two plush freshman soap operas, "The Survivors" (on ABC-TV, with Lana Turner) and "Bracken's World" (on NBC-TV, about a movie studio) are struggling.

Hot In The Ratings

ABC-TV's "Movie of the Week," a new series of 90-minute original teleplays, stays hot in the ratings. For example, its comic Western, "The Over-the-Hill Gang," about a group of ex-Texas Rangers, finished No. 1 in the market Nielsen, despite opposition from two specials, NBC-TV's "From Here to the Seventies" (two-hour documentary hosted by Paul Newman) and CBS-TV's 90-minute drama "Appalachian Autumn."

Cause Celebre: Paul Keyes, producer and head writer of NBC-TV's "Laugh-In," has quit the show. A trade report quotes him as saying, "I left because it's slanted and vulgar, dirty."

One of Keyes' superiors says the producer-writer resigned for personal reasons. A Los Angeles Times story says: "It has been reported that Keyes, an eager Nixon campaigner and supporter, was two big NBC-TV productions under pressure from the White House to put a halt to the two-hour "Night Gallery," which is a trilogy in which each story centers on a painting and concerns persons driven to tragedy by guilt and greed.

NBC-TV has been highly sensitive to viewer reaction to blue material on "Laugh-In," and once, it is reported, gave thought to moving the top-rated show to a later hour when the children's audience is smaller. No one, however, wants to mess around with a hit as big as "Laugh-In."

Hot Writer: Rod Serling has been a big NBC-TV production under pressure from the White House to put a halt to the two-hour "Night Gallery," which is a trilogy in which each story centers on a painting and concerns persons driven to tragedy by guilt and greed. On Feb. 6, his 90-minute "Hallmark Hall of Fame" play, "A Storm in Summer," focuses on the friendship that develops between a small-town shopkeeper and a poor Negro youngster from New York City's Harlem project.

McGovern on Agnew --- God Help This Nation

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. George S. McGovern accused Vice President Spiro T. Agnew today of cynically attempting "to discredit the patriotism" of Vietnam dissenters and said President Nixon must have approved the tactic.

"If Mr. Agnew's speech is a measure of the administration's moral and mental sensitivity, God help America," the South Dakota Democrat said in a Senate statement.

The White House said Agnew's Sunday denunciation of antiwar demonstrators had not been discussed in advance with Nixon.

"I think the vice president spoke his own mind," said Hugh Scott, Senate Republican leader. McGovern's attack on administration war policy and on Agnew personally came while other Senate dissenters were easing their criticism, in anticipation of Nixon's Nov. 3 report to the nation.

The Senate Foreign Relations Committee called off, until sometime after that address, its planned week of Vietnam policy hearings keyed to series of resolutions urging U. S. withdrawal, and one which calls on Hanoi for peace concessions.

Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., the chairman, said the sessions were postponed as a matter of courtesy to Nixon.

It seemed also that policy critics were reluctant to hold the public inquiry, certain to produce complaints about the Nixon course, only days before the President himself was to deliver an address which might undercut them.

McGovern protested Agnew's Sunday statement that antiwar demonstrators were anarchists spurred on by "impudent snobs," and that they were siding with the enemy in Vietnam.

"I charge him with making a deliberate and cynical effort to arouse contempt for the college students of America," McGovern said.

"He seeks to discredit the patriotism of those of us—young and old alike—who have opposed the war in Vietnam.

"There can be no doubt that he does this with the approval of the President," McGovern said.

"Mr. Agnew's attitude toward the peace effort and especially the moratorium demonstrates ignorance, both of the struggle in Vietnam and the political process in America."

Scott suggested a change in administration handling of the war protests.

"I volunteered an opinion that we could make the Nov. 15 effort our own by demonstrating what we are doing for peace," the Republican leader said.

He said the administration needs the confidence of America's young people and should welcome their concern.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield Tuesday repeated he thinks Nixon's current war policy amounts to a "cease-fire and stand fast of a sort."

Laurie Bound for Florida

MIAMI (UPI) — Hurricane Laurie drifted toward the Florida Gulf Coast today with more than 100 mile-per-hour winds. The Mississippi and Louisiana coasts, ravaged by Hurricane Camille, appeared to be out of immediate danger.

A hurricane watch was in effect from Everglades City, near the tip of the Florida Peninsula, northward to Cedar Key. The area includes populous Tampa Bay.

At 6 a.m. EDT, the National Hurricane Center in Miami located Laurie near latitude 25.7 north, longitude 87.5 west, or about 350 miles west-southwest of Fort Myers. It was moving toward the east-southeast at 5-10 m.p.h., and the weather bureau said if this trend continued, the hurricane watch would be extended to include the lower Florida Keys.

The weather bulletin said Laurie should pick up some forward speed during today, but that no significant change in its intensity was expected.

Tides two to four feet above normal and heavy rains were predicted for parts of the Florida Coast.

Forecaster John Hope of the National Hurricane Center called Laurie "an average hurricane in intensity or even a little less, but this may not be the case when it reaches the coast."

"We are not ready to indicate an exact area where the hurricane will touch land since it is so far away," Hope said.

Ulster Collection

Town of Ulster Highway Superintendent Edgar Elliott announced Tuesday that beginning next Monday leaves will be collected by highway crews in the area north of the Kingston city line to Boice's Lane. Residents were requested by Elliott to either have leaves raked to the street front or have them in containers.

"But there are no indications the hurricane will change directions acutely," he said. He doesn't expect Laurie to strike land until Thursday, unless its forward speed increases considerably.

There was no immediate evacuation of the Florida Coast as residents awaited further advisories on the storm's progress.

Around 3,153 persons moved inland along the Louisiana Coast and there was some flight from the Mississippi Coast Tuesday when it appeared that area, devastated by Camille in August, was threatened. But these refugees returned to their homes Tuesday night after Laurie veered toward Florida.

Chilean Revolt Is Ended, General Turns Over Reins

SANTIAGO, Chile (UPI) — do Mahn. No further details of the decision to end the rebellion were available.

A government communique said 14 civilians had been wounded in gunfire from roofs of the rebels' besieged barracks Tuesday night in the first military revolt in 37 years in Chile. The government said up to three of the wounded, all students were in critical condition and one was a 17-year-old girl.

The shooting broke out after the rebels withdrew two tanks into their military compound from outside the main gate. The gate faces a wooded area in a park where troops loyal to Frei had taken up positions.

One of the tanks had to back up and give the other a push to get it started, giving some credence to Viaux's argument that the army's equipment is in bad shape.

Demonstrators from a government solidarity group in front of the National Palace then marched to the rebel garrison. Rebel officers emerged to hand the demonstrators pamphlets. Then the students began throwing rocks and the rebels fired back.

Troops loyal to Frei kept a cordon around the rebellious Tacna motorized artillery regiment through the night. Frei and his advisers met at the National Palace on a proposal from Viaux for a settlement.

Viaux was cashiered by Frei last week for complaining about army conditions. He called the revolt in anger over what he termed poor pay, inadequate equipment and the low esteem of the government for career army officers. The army has been losing men steadily to civilian occupations because of low pay.

Mahn, Frei's military envoy to the rebels, conferred four times with Viaux Tuesday. Viaux wanted Defense Minister Gen. Tulio Maramba and army Chief of Staff Gen. Sergio Castillo ousted, contending both went back on their promises to improve things for the army.

Viaux had contended that because he refused to sign a retirement directive from Frei last week, he was still a general.

Syria Closes Lebanese Border, Stirs Latent Arab Dissension

DAMASCUS (UPI) — Syria's closure of its border with Lebanon brought latent Arab world dissension into the open today—all of it stemming from Lebanon's reluctance to shelter Arab guerrillas.

Damascus Radio broke into its regular 11:30 newscast Tuesday night to announce the government was closing its borders with Lebanon for what it called the Lebanese "conspiracy" against the guerrillas. The announcement said the action was "a prelude to firmer and more effective measures which the government will take to bolster the presence of commandos in Lebanon."

Lebanon is the only Arab nation bordering Israel—the other three are Syria, Jordan and Egypt—to have shunned Arab guerrillas. Damascus Radio warned of the "serious consequences" of this policy. It said Lebanon was playing into the hands of Israel.

The closure followed official reports from Cairo that for the third time in four days, Lebanese troops had attacked guerrillas in southern Lebanon in an apparent attempt to drive them out of the country.

Albany Squabble On HS Graduates

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI) — A major squabble has erupted between top state educators and Governor Rockefeller's budget men over a proposal to make a community college education a valuable to every high school graduate.

The program which would be implemented by 1975 at a cost of $412 million, is recommended by a blue ribbon committee appointed last year by Governor Rockefeller.

The proposal is contained in a 200 page report by the committee. It has not yet officially been made public because of a dispute among the three major parties involved: Ewald B. Nyquist, the acting education commissioner; Dr. Samuel B. Gould, chancellor of State University; and Dr. T. Norman Hurd, the Rockefeller administration's budget director.

An Education Department spokesman said today the argument had been holding up the report, which newsmen finally got wind of this week.

The "open door" admission policy proposed would result in 177,672 students in state financed two year colleges by 1975. This double enrollment would also double costs. It would cost an estimated $2,320 to educate each student for a year, compared with the present price tag of $1,187.

Disagreement over the proposal concerns whether the state should pour so much money into higher education and, if it does, whether funds should go to two year colleges or the four year State University.

The Education Department, especially under the leadership of Dr. James E. Allen, who left as commissioner earlier this year to take a similar post on the federal level, has always backed the "open door" policy.

Gould and State University are a little wary, however, because such a costly program—$214 million of the $412 million would be paid by the state—would inevitably mean a cut back in funds spent on the four year college program.

And Hurd, hard pressed from all sides to provide more state money while not raising taxes, questions whether the state can afford that kind of increase anywhere.

The two year college report proposes to divide the state into "community college service areas." There would be 22 areas upstate, two on Long Island and one for New York City.

Each area would have at least one community college, plus additional state agriculture and technical schools. Under this plan, high school graduates would have a two year school available within easy driving distance from their home.

The report also calls for a restructuring of the present financing method for community colleges — and this is where the increased state cost comes in.
